'TOXIC' TORIES JIBE BY BURLEY

CHASE MP Aidan Burley insists he is still committed to the Tory party – despite accusing its district group leader of creating a 'toxic' atmosphere.

Mr Burley has denied claims that he and Councillor Paul Snape – the opposition leader on Cannock Chase Council – have not spoken for almost three months.

By Political Editor Daniel Wainwright

The MP is standing down next year but Councillor Snape claimed they had not spoken since February.

Mr Burley says his last face-to-face contact with the Tory leader was on March 14 and that he remains in regular contact with district Conservatives, even though his fiancee Councillor Jodie Jones has resigned from the group and will sit as an independent in her Rawnsley ward.

Pleasantries

The MP also produced an email from Councillor Snape he received in May. And he accused Councillor Snape of being 'rude and aggressive' towards Councillor Jones.

Councillor Snape said he stood by his earlier remarks and stressed that while they had exchanged pleasantries, they had not discussed politics or planning.

Last week Councillor Snape said he and Mr Burley had not spoken since February 3, two days before Mr Burley declared he would not seek re-election as an MP next year.

But Mr Burley said: "This a lie, and a false claim.

"The last time I spoke in person with Paul Snape was at our annual general meeting on March 14. We spoke after I had made my speech at the AGM in the upstairs Churchill Room of the Conservative Club, and again downstairs afterwards in the bar. The conversations were friendly and amicable, and I recall Paul wishing me best of luck for my wedding.

"His statement that I have not spoken to the leader of the Tory group on Cannock Chase Council since February 3 is both false and defamatory.

"I have numerous witnesses who saw me speaking to him at the AGM, and we have also exchanged emails as recently as two weeks ago.

"I don't know where Paul's anger is coming from – I assume due to Jodie's decision to leave the group – but that is her decision, not mine.

"From what I can tell Paul has created a toxic atmosphere within the Conservative Group, and has been rude and aggressive to Jodie on a number of occasions."

In reply, Councillor Snape said: "Aidan was at the AGM and I said 'good luck for the wedding'. That's not speaking to the group leader as far as I am concerned.

"He believes saying hello constitutes talking but I don't."

He said the party was now working on finding a new Cannock Chase candidate.

Charity single in race to top charts

Kate Hoare , Chris Harborow and Neon Studios owner Mike Newey recording the charity single for Stephen Sutton

A CHARITY single in memory of Stephen Sutton has shot to number two in the download charts – less than two days after being released.

The song, recorded by 40 musicians called The Neon Brotherhood, was recorded at the Neon Studios in Burntwood.

It has sold more than 15,000 copies and is battling singer-songwriter Ed Sheeran for the top spot.

Martin Stanyer wrote the track, called Hope Ain't a Bad Thing.

He and Stephen worked together at the studios where the teenager rehearsed with his band, Nothing Personal. Mike Newey, who owns the New Road studios with his wife Kate Hoare, said: "We only released the song on Monday evening and within 24 hours thousands of people had downloaded it."

So far the song has raised around £12,000 which will be donated towards the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Stephen's mother Jane said: "I would personally appreciate it if you could click the link to purchase this song and let's all get it to No. 1"

The five-minute track is available to download on iTunes and Amazon.

A two-day vigil saw more than 10,000 people pay their respects to the 19-year-old at Lichfield Cathedral.

A service marking the end of the vigil saw Jane and Stephen's brother Chris join a crowd of thousands, including comedian Jason Manford, who gave a final thumbs-up.

Concluding the service, the Dean of Lichfield the Very Reverend Adrian Dorber said: "It would be usual now, if this was a church service, to say 'rest in peace' but I can't imagine Stephen doing that.

"He'd say 'Live it up', so – one more time – let's give him a thumbs up."

Jobs joy as Amazon makes bid to expand

ONLINE retailer Amazon has announced plans to double the capacity of its Rugeley base.

The move will create 350 jobs.

Bosses have lodged plans with the council to expand the 700,000sqft centre in Wheelhouse Lane.

If the scheme is approved a new entrance would be built and extra car parking spaces added. A new roundabout would also be created as well as a new bus stop.

Interior alterations will be made so more items can be housed at the centre before they are sent out.

Welcomed

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "Amazon's proposal to invest further in Rugeley is to be warmly welcomed, together with the new jobs that would be created.

"This shows that Cannock Chase is an attractive place to invest and create jobs for local people."

Amazon opened its Rugeley centre in September 2011 and currently employs around 900 workers.

Thousands of seasonal posts are created each year at the Rugeley centre. Last festive period, the firm took on 1,500 temporary workers – 500 more posts than it did the previous year.

Pitmen player to open fair

HEDNESFORD Town player Ben Bailey will open a church summer fair this weekend.

Bargains, stalls, refreshments and children's games are all on offer in the grounds of St Peter's Church, Church Hill, Hednesford.

Defender Bailey will open the fair at 11am on Saturday (June 7). It will run until 3pm.

It follows a fundraising craft fair at the church in April, which generated £540.

Hospital unit will be saved from axe

CANNOCK Hospital's under-threat Minor Injuries Unit is to be saved, health chiefs have announced.

Doctors on cash-strapped Cannock Chase Commissioning Group had planned closure in a bid to save £750,000. It will now stay open with a reduced service.

Following a public outcry, health bosses are proposing that GPs take over the service and man it between 1pm and 6pm with an out-of-hours provider running the centre until midnight and at weekends.

They are proposing to rename the service the Cannock Primary Care Access Centre or similar.

Outcry

Members of the Healthy Staffordshire select committee at Staffordshire County Council will discuss the plans on Monday, June 9.

Labour's Parliamentary candidate for Cannock Chase, Janos Toth said: "It is good that Cannock Chase Clinical Commissioning Group is responding to the public outcry it caused."

Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson said: "It looks like the CCG has listened, which we are grateful for, but it does look like we will be losing some level of service, which is not good enough."

Store hit by masked raid

MASKED robbers armed with a crowbar attacked a shopper and threatened security guards at a Rugeley supermarket cash machine.

The Co-op in Springfield Road was targeted by three men at about 7.10am yesterday (Wednesday).

The raiders, who had their faces covered and were wearing dark clothing, threatened the guards who were inside the store.

A man, believed to be a customer, was pushed over and needed paramedic aid.

Bereaved families at memorial service

FAMILIES from across the country were part of a special ceremony held at the National Memorial Arboretum in Alrewas.

The service was organised for anyone whose children had lost their lives because they only had half a heart.

A bench and a tree were dedicated in their memory and music was played while poems were read out.

Birmingham-based charity Little Hearts Matters, which is marking 20 years, organised the day. Bereaved families were able to place heart-shaped decorations on the tree in memory of their loved ones. Trustee and vice treasurer Peter Groves provided music with his brass band, Boldzbrass.

Mr Groves lost his first daughter, Stephanie, 20 years ago. She lived for a few days after being diagnosed as having only half a heart following birth.

He said: "Those of us that have suffered the tragedy of losing a child know that they live in your heart and thoughts every single day.

"The memorial will serve as a permanent reminder to all that visit this wonderful place that there have been very special children born who may have only been with us for a very limited time but will live on in our memories for ever."

The charity's chief executive, Suzie Hutchinson said: "Although the number of children living with only half a working heart has improved over the last 20 years, there will always be some children who do not survive the complex treatment that is offered to them."

Hospital upgrade to start 'within month'

WORK will start on transforming Cannock Chase Hospital within a month, health chiefs in Wolverhampton have revealed.

Bosses at the Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust are taking over in Cannock as part of the dissolution of the Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust.

Under the plans, the hospital will host all elective non-emergency surgery on patients from New Cross.

It is anticipated patients will start being treated there by the end of the summer.

They will be ferried between Wolverhampton and Cannock on free shuttle buses, whuch will also transfer vital medical equipment such as laboratory samples and sterile instruments between the hospitals.

New Cross chief executive David Loughton confirmed that plans were being finalised now ahead of building work starting within a month.

"The capital requirements are being worked out now and the scheme is being finalised," he said.

Factored

"I would hope we'd start on the capital work within the next month. And we can start to move patients to Cannock by the end of the summer."

Extra patients from in and around Stafford and Cannock are being factored into all major planning decisions at New Cross, including the hospital's new £30m Emergency Centre.

Added A&E capacity is being created, which will enable the trust to move its elective surgery to Cannock.

Up to 350 staff members will be sent to Cannock from Wolverhampton, to work alongside existing staff.

As part of the building work theatres will be upgraded and equipment shipped over from New Cross.

Trust fined for missing its targets

HEALTH bosses have been hit with a fine of almost £700,000 for missing superbug control targets.

Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust was given the penalty over breaches of its Clostridium Difficile (C.diff) standards. It was also fined £14,000 after 14 patients spent the night in the A&E unit at Stafford Hospital due to a shortage of ward beds.

The trust was penalised by the GP-led Stafford and Surrounds Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) that is responsible for providing healthcare services.

In a statement, trust chief executive Maggie Oldham said: "I would, once again, reiterate my apology to all patients who may have been affected by these recent events and assure all our patients we are doing everything we can to minimise any recurrence."

The trust's director of nursing Suzanne Banks said: "Although we are disappointed that our C. diff figures are high, we believe the figures do not always provide a full picture.

"We have not had any outbreaks of C. diff at Mid Staffs. There have been no links between any of the cases which have occurred."

School's autism accreditation

Amanda Ross and her son Jack Bedward, aged 11, take part in the family SEAL group

A HEDNESFORD school has been rewarded for his work with autistic pupils.

Hednesford Valley High has achieved autism accreditation by The National Autistic Society. The status praises the quality of the service it provides for those with the condition.

The school worked for three years to achieve the standard and will be presented with a plaque in July.

Autism co-ordinator Tracey Sutcliffe has been working together with the autistic spectrum disorder and special educational needs group to lead the project.

The Stanley Road school also runs family social and emotional aspects of learning (SEAL) groups in the spring term where parents can talk to each other and take part in activities with their children.

Headteacher Anita Rattan said she was proud that all the standards in the review were met. She said: "We were so pleased when we found out. This is the first time we had put in for the award."

Call made to receive updates via email

POLICE & Crime Commissioner Matthew Ellis is urging people who get his latest news to have it sent straight to their email inbox.

So far, 4,165 individuals have subscribed to regular emails. Mr Ellis wants people in Cannock, Rugeley and Burntwood to follow suit.

The electronic newsletter was launched last summer so Staffordshire residents can get up-to-date information on initiatives, local 'Let's Talk' events and ways to get involved.

Mr Ellis said: "I've met thousands of people face to face over the last year. Many of them are interested in getting regular updates about the exciting initiatives we're involved in, such as the popular crackdown on car insurance dodgers.

"This newsletter is a great way of finding out what's going on in policing and criminal justice, getting local news and hearing about ways you can get involved as a volunteer or even play a part in deciding local priorities."

Plans for housing on show to public

A PUBLIC exhibition is taking place over plans to build 450 homes at Pye Green Valley.

The plans have been on display at Hednesford Library, in Market Street and remain on show until tomorrow (Friday). Housebuilder Persimmon Homes is urging locals to have their say on the proposed development.

Tim Brickley, director in charge at Persimmon Homes West Midlands, said: "Pye Green Valley has been identified for development and currently has an outline planning consent for new housing.

"We want to give the public an opportunity to air their views.

"The plans include improved access to nearby open space and the provision of a play area within the development and aim to encourage the use of pedestrian and cycle routes and public transport."

The development will provide more than 50 full time construction job opportunities and the company will be offering apprenticeship schemes for local school leavers.

Feedback can be emailed to westmidlandsconsultation.event@persimmonhomes.com

Fire Service volunteer in line for award

A DEDICATED with Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service has been nominated for a MORE Award.

Keith Morris, based in Cannock, will find out if he has scooped the 'Fire Service Champion – Service to the Community' title on Thursday, June 12. The seventh annual ceremony will take place at the County Showground in Stafford.

Keith received the nomination for his work delivering community safety in the west of the county. Chief Fire Officer Peter Dartford said: "We are lucky to have an extremely dedicated and hard-working team, in terms of operational and support staff as well as voluntary members and we are proud of the excellent work they carry out.

Diverse

"The roles are incredibly diverse but each member of staff plays a key part in ensuring it runs smoothly and every individual is a vital cog in our wheel.

"The MORE Awards are our way of thanking those who have truly gone the extra mile to provide the first class service, either on the front line or behind the scenes."

Nine awards will be presented in total. These are: Fire Service Champion – Externally nominated; Peter Harrison Innovation and Improvement Champion; Leadership Message and Cultural Framework Champion; Young Person of the Year; Fire Service Champion – Service to the Community; Fire Service Fundraiser Champion; Fire Service Champion – Partnership Achievement; Fire Service Champion; Member Involvement in the Community.

Meanwhile, five retained firefighters have completed a three-year development programme.

Steffan Smith, Danielle Griffiths, Paul Barks, Colin Wright and Fay Cooper – based at Stone, Kinver, Ipstones, Burslem and Rugeley respectively – have passed the necessary tests to reach the level of a competent firefighter.

Education boss hits out at 'failing pupils' claim

AN education boss has hit back after Ofsted accused the county council of failing its school pupils.

The Government inspectors said teachers believe it 'does not know its schools as well as it used to'.

It came after half of 18 primary schools they visited were found to not be providing children with a good education.

In a letter to the county council, Ofsted said'the local authority's engagement and communication with schools, particularly governing bodies, is not fully effective.'

by Adam Burling

Three of those were put into special measures and six were judged to need improvement. Nine of the schools were rated good or outstanding – including two in Rugeley, Hob Hill Methodist Primary and Hayes Meadow Primary.

Peers

Opposition Labour councillors said not enough was being done to raise standards.

But bosses insist that standards are improving – and deny the claims that they are less familiar with schools than they used to be.

Shadow cabinet member for learning and skills Councillor Sue Woodward said: "For the past 12 months at least, things have gone backwards not forwards and this just can not continue."

But education boss Councillor Ben Adams said: "We are disappointed with Ofsted's findings but it is quite incorrect to extrapolate that this mirrors a trend across the county's schools."

He said 74 per cent of more than 100 schools inspected over the last year were good or outstanding.

And he insisted the council was already aware of the schools that were struggling before the inspections were carried out and was working with them.

There around 295 primary schools in Staffordshire. In total, 74 per cent of those are currently rated good or outstanding.

Schools told they require improving include were Kingsfield First School in Biddulph; Leek First; Springcroft Primary School, Blythe Bridge; St Paul's CofE Primary School, Stafford; St Patrick's Catholic Primary, Stafford; Amington Heath Primary School and Nursery, Tamworth.

Silkmore Community Primary in Stafford, Bhylls Acre Primary, Wolverhampton, and Castlechurch Primary, Stafford, were all put in special measures.

Free workshop for carers

PARENTS and carers of children with special education needs are invited to a free workshop in Cannock next month. SkillShare, a project funded by Big Lottery fund, is offering the workshop in conjunction with Dove Service.

It takes place on Friday, July 4, from 9.30am to 2.30pm at the Roman Way Hotel, Watling Street. Free lunch is included and booking is essential at skillshare@staffordshire.gov.uk or telephone Tracy Munday on 01785 356930.

Marie Hayden who is to raise money charity with a 52-mile hike

A charity per week is target for Marie

A MOTHER-of-four is embarking on a challenge to raise money for 52 charities in 52 weeks.

Salon owner Marie Hayden has already raised thousands of pounds for organisations including Help for Heroes, Macmillan, Rugeley Cats Society and food banks across Staffordshire.

Marie, aged 35, who runs Florida Sun Tanning and Beauty in Bridgtown, said: "I love to help people and I've always tried to help out where I can.

"In 2005 I shaved my hair off for Cancer Research UK and it all went from there because then I started fundraising as much as I could.

"This challenge is about getting people to think not just about the big charities but the little ones as well."

So far, Marie has collected blankets for dogs' homes and organised events including a ladies night at the Aquarius Ballroom in Hednesford on June 26 and a 52-mile walk in September.

A variety show at the Prince of Wales Centre on June 30 will raise money to send a local girl guides group to India.

To get involved visit Marie's Facebook page 52 challenges in 52 weeks or call 07973 887647.

THE BEST OF PETER RHODES

A NEW £12 million contract will reportedly keep Jeremy Clarkson at the BBC until 2018 and make a fortune for the Corporation in overseas sales. You still wonder why Auntie refuses to get rid of him? If Clarkson blacked-up and did an impression of Barack Obama singing The Sun Has Got His Hat On, he'd still be unsackable.

REJOICE, for the rocks beneath England appear to contain billions of barrels of shale oil. So if Scotland votes for independence and takes what remains of its North Sea oil, we've got plenty of our own. Did you ever doubt that God was an Englishman?

WHEN will politicians stop referring to Ukip's success as extraordinary? It was not so much extraordinary as inevitable. Push people too far in the wrong direction and one day they will push you back. A politician who doesn't get that doesn't understand anything about politics, or people.

USEFUL political phrases. In Egypt, the 50 per cent who never turn out to vote are known as the sofa party.

A SPOKESWOMAN explains that the aim of Wolverhampton University in opening an "African hub" on Mauritius (seriously) is "to further develop our course offer and grow student numbers." I wonder what that means in English.

AS new celebrity allegations arise, I am reminded that when I was covering magistrates' courts in the 1970s when some of these offences allegedly happened, the going rate for indecent assault was a £30 fine and a talking-to by the chairman of the bench. Prison was reserved for really serious offences and the courts had a very different idea of what constituted "serious". I once saw a man get three months for poaching rabbits.

HERE we go. I wondered how long it would be before Education Secretary Michael Gove's ban on taking kids on holiday in term time became a human-rights issue. Sure enough a group called Parents Want A Say claims the ban infringes the right to family life in the European Convention on Human Rights. The lawyers who created the Convention must be turning in their graves. Their solemn duty, after the horror of the Second World War, was to ensure the continent was never again taken over by dictators. The right to family life was drafted to prevent husbands, sons and fathers being carted off as slave labourers. It was never designed to give families a fortnight together in Benidorm. Today the Convention has become so devalued that it is brandished by everyone from criminals who thoroughly deserve to be deported to silly pupils who don't want to wear school uniform. Now, we are told, there is a human right to term-time holidays. PlanetSKI, a website devoted to winter sports denounces Michael Gove's ban: "It is stopping families enjoying a ski holiday at times outside official school holidays and this may have a long-term impact on the future number of skiers and snowboarders." Dear God, not a national shortage of skiers and snowboarders. It is beyond parody.

WHEN young men volunteer for war, their families do not always see them as heroes. A court heard how, when Mashudur Choudhury told his wife he wanted to join the civil war in Syria, she texted him: "Go die in battle. Go die. I really mean it, just go." I was reminded of another war and an old soldier I once interviewed. Jim Jones lied about his age to join the army in 1940 when he was just 16. The memory of his mother's reaction stayed with him for the next 70 years. She said: "If he wants to get his bloody head blown off, let him." Jim Jones won the Military Medal in Burma and came home a hero. Mashudur Choudhury is probably going to jail. Fortunes of war.

The coffin leaves the family home in Burntwood and onto Lichfield Cathedral

Thousands say last goodbye to Stephen

by Rob Golledge

THOUSANDS packed into Lichfield Cathedral to say a final farewell to inspirational teenager Stephen Sutton.

Well-wishers began queuing first thing on Friday in the shadows of Lichfield Cathedral's three spires before the two-day vigil came to a close ahead of a private family funeral.

Hundreds lined the streets of Burntwood and Lichfield as Stephen's coffin travelled in a horse-drawn carriage from his home town to the cathedral city on Thursday evening.

The 19-year-old died from terminal cancer after a courageous fight which saw his zest for life in the face of adversity inspire a nation.

Stephen's coffin lay in the centre of the nave with people able to pay their respects by giving a 'thumbs up', light a candle, write in a book of condolence, and make a donation to the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Anthem

The vigil started with Tocatta from Symphony 5 as well as the Liverpool FC anthem You'll Never Walk Alone.

The Very Reverend Adrian Dorber, the Dean of Lichfield, said: "Stephen has shown us the sheer joy of existence in everything he touched.

"He has been an inspiration and we all want to share in that great sense of helpful positivity. He chose to share his exuberance with us, not his pain or regrets."

Some of Stephen's favourite music was played, including You've Got A Friend In Me, by Randy Newman – the soundtrack to Disney's Toy Story.

The Teenage Cancer Trust's chief executive Siobhan Dunn said Stephen would not be forgotten. She added: "I think it's really important there's a public celebration of Stephen's life and I think that's exactly what he would have wanted."

Drawn by four white horses resplendent in yellow head dresses, Stephen's coffin slowly passed through the maze of roads of his home town which he had trod a thousand times.

Everywhere the cortège went people stopped, waving, clapping and giving the thumb's up.

It took nearly an hour to make the five-mile journey to Lichfield.

In The Close, a crowd of hundreds packed onto the green. Ablaze with bright colours a sombre hush was broken by the sound of horses' hooves. A grand crescendo of applause followed, reverberating of the stunning cathedral façade. A bright yellow wreath bearing the icon of a smiley face lay beside the white coffin.

Julia Hayburn, assistant headteacher at Stephen's former school, Chase Terrace Technology College, said: "Words like awesome, awe-inspiring and inspirational became synonymous with Stephen – but they only touched the surface of what he has become on a national and international scale."

Stephen's mother Jane and his brother Chris shared a smile, through tears, as they raised their digits to the white coffin on top of the stone dais, surrounded by yellow and white flowers.

Crowds

Among the crowds was Lianne Woolley, 18, who went to primary school with Stephen and waited outside the cathedral with her mum Susan. The Chase Terrace sixth former said: "Seeing so many people here has been astonishing."

Mrs Wolley, 48, added: "Burntwood is very proud of Stephen."

Chase Terrace Technology College student Nathaniel Godward joined hundreds others in The Close with his sister Grace, eight, and mother Vanessa. The 13-year-old said: "It has been very emotional."

Millie Price, 14, from Chase Terrace, attended the vigil with her mum Tracey and friend Courtney. She said: "I wanted to be here to give him a final thumbs up. This is very much a celebration."

Among the colourfully-clad mourners were Jacob Gray, 12, William Gray eight, Isobel Mathias, 10, and Megan Mathias, seven, all from Lichfield.

Isobel said: "We wanted to pay our respects to Stephen because he is an inspiration."

Jacob said: "He taught everyone to live life to the full and that it doesn't matter what you get you can still live life."

William added: "He was so inspirational."

Barrier is smashed as £4m now raised

JUST hours before a vigil in honour of Stephen Sutton began, his fundraising total hit the £4million mark.

By the start of this year, the inspirational Burntwood teenager had hit £500,000 – after initially only targeting a £10,000 pledge.

He then set his eyes on the £1million mark but days later his condition took a turn for the worst and a picture posted on Facebook of his final thumbs-up saw the campaign spiral.

The £2million and £3million marks soon followed and the £4million barrier was broken through just before 4pm last Thursday.

Siobhan Dunn, chief executive of the Teenage Cancer Trust, said: "The money is remarkable. To have raised £4m is an extraordinary amount of money and nobody has ever done that in our 24-year history.

"However, as important as the money is the awareness that Stephen's raised of the fact that young people get cancer.

"Stephen's an extraordinary young man who has had the most incredible impact on the lives of so many young people with cancer."

Tears, joy and hope expressed

THE Dean of Lichfield, The Very Reverend Adrian Dorber, said he was thrilled that so many people turned out to 'give thanks for an exceptional life'.

He said there had been a mix of emotions – tears, joy and hope.

"I am totally thrilled at the public response," he said. "Stephen's family was very composed and there has been a mixture of emotions.

"Clearly people want to give thanks for an exceptional life. But underneath all that there is a real loss and a real grief .

"We have tried to give this occasion a unique flavour.

"We have been very mindful of what the family want. Very mindful of Stephen's particular philosophical stance on life."

The Dean added: "We have learned from Stephen to live every minute, be courageous, don't be resentful, and make a contribution that exceeds your lifespan."

Charity to waive fee in aid of campaign

LEADING first aid charity St John Ambulance has become the latest organisation to support the Thumbs Up for Stephen fundraiser.

Sixteen of the organisation's trained first aiders will be on duty at a mini festival at Burntwood Rugby Club next weekend.

Up to 5,000 people are expected to attend the fundraiser on Saturday, June 14, that will raise money for the Teenage Cancer Trust in memory of the inspirational Burntwood teenager.

St John Ambulance has offered to waive its usual fee so as much as possible can be donated to the trust.

Nearly £4 million has been given to the trust so far by people inspired by Stephen, who died last month at the age of 19.

He had originally set a target to raise just £10,000.

Treatment

The charity's team of volunteers will be on hand to deal with minor medical problems to life or death emergencies during the event. There will be a first aid treatment unit located on the site.

Roy Jarratt, regional events manager for West Midlands St John Ambulance, said: "St John Ambulance is delighted to be part of this event.

"Although we normally charge to attend events like this which pays for the equipment, vehicles and supplies, like all the other organisations involved we wanted to contribute something in memory of Stephen.

"With a large crowd expected, our first aid team will be available to deal with any emergency that might arise."

Praise from clergyman

A BURNTWOOD clergyman has praised teenage cancer victim Stephen Sutton.

Pastor Rod Lewis, of Emmanuel Church, said the former Chase Terrace Technology College pupil had attended the church and told his story of making the most of his short life to help others.

Pastor Lewis was addressing the congregation at Burntwood Churches United Pentecost Praise service at Hammerwich parish church, led by Phil Stratton of St Anne's.

Town pays tribute with a sea of yellow

Florist Kailey Turner of Belle Fleur

YELLOW ribbons adorn the streets around Burntwood in memory of Stephen Sutton.

They have been tied to the railings of the 19-year-old's former school, Chase Terrace Technology College, and can also be seen outside the town council and The Wych Elm pub, which held many fundraisers for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

Shops, businesses and homeowners have been paying their respects to the brave teenager by tying ribbons round shrubs, trees, lampposts, gates and even their cars.

Florists say the simple gesture of support has brought the community together as residents queue for their supply of 'tribute tape.' And many of the businesses have refused to charge, instead asking customers to give a donation to the trust.

Kailey Turner, manager at Belle Fleur in Cannock Road, said the store had to extend its opening hours in recent weeks to keep up with the demand.

She said: "People have been queueing out the door and instead of shutting up shop at 5.30pm, some nights we have been staying open until 8pm.

"We have sold at least 1,000 bows and every morning we have a group of people eager to get in the store.

"It's brilliant and Burntwood looks fantastic. I am really proud how this has brought the community together."

Amanda Chatfield, owner of Wild Orchid Florist in Rugeley Road, said staff had been taking ribbons home to make each night to keep up with the demand. She added: "So many people have been inspired by Stephen and they want to pay their respects and I think this is a lovely way to do it.

"Burntwood is a sea of yellow and it is very touching to see."

Stephen initially set out to raise £10,000 for the Teenage Cancer Trust. But his story and remarkable attitude to life helped him smash that target.

Thumbs-up gesture is a sign to remember him by

by Rob Golledge

THOUSANDS of people gave Stephen Sutton a final thumbs up – a symbol he wished to be remembered by.

They made the gesture ahead of the teenager's funeral last Friday afternoon.

It came as thousands turned out during a two-day vigil to say farewell to the courageous 19-year-old.

At 11am on Friday, a crowd of up to 300 gathered on the lawn outside Lichfield Cathedral to join in a big 'Thumbs Up For Stephen'.

They were joined by thousands of others, who also posted selfies of themselves on social media. Celebrities including former Coronation Street actress Shobna Gulati, Loose Women presenter Ruth Langsford, musician Myleene Klass and West Bromwich Albion and Scotland footballer James Morrison were all pictured giving the thumbs-up sign as a tribute to Stephen.

Trademark

The Dean of Lichfield, the Very Reverend Adrian Dorber, said: "It was great to have so many people here at 11am doing a thumbs up.

"It was the symbol Stephen wanted to be remembered by – not a two-minute silence but a celebration of positive action and that sign is thumbs up."

Lichfield Cathedral spokesman Neill Harvey-Smith added: "There were tears, there were laughs, grief, and happiness.

"Today we have joined with people across the world in giving Stephen's trademark thumbs up. It was truly an inspirational moment.

In Stephen's home town of Burntwood, hundreds of people lined the streets to see off their neighbour and friend on his penultimate journey.

Everywhere the cortège went people stopped, waving, clapping and giving the thumb's up which his fundraising drive became associated with.

Stephen's arrival at the cathedral, where mourners had been asked not to wear black, coincided with news earlier in the day that more than £4 million in donations had been pledged in his name to the Teenage Cancer Trust.

A thumbs-up tribute as Stephen's coffin o stands in Lichfield Cathedral

People gather outside the cathedral to give their thumbs-up

But a simple determination to live his life while under the constant shadow of terminal bowel cancer saw his campaign gain rapid momentum.

He created a bucket list to spread awareness to other young people that they should 'measure life by what they achieve, not how long they live'. It was that attitude which earned the highest praise and admiration, including from celebrities including Russell Brand, Simon Cowell, Ricky Gervais and Jason Manford.

Paying tribute, the Dean of Lichfield, the Very Reverend Adrian Dorber, told the gathered mourners that Stephen 'in his all too brief life' had taught 'how to make the unacceptable, beautiful'.

"Turning to the purpose of the vigil, he added: "Rituals and gestures don't change the world by themselves. But they can change us, and we can change the world."

Following the end of the formal portion of the service, the Dean invited the congregation to do five things in turn, including signing the books of condolence, lighting a candle, and giving the 'thumbs-up' sign.

Among them were Stephen's mother Jane Sutton and his brother Chris who shared a smile, through tears, as they raised their digits to the white coffin on top of the stone dais, surrounded by yellow and white flowers.

Favourite

As a seemingly endless stream of mourners, young and old, some smiling, many wiping away tears, then took their place to honour Stephen, a 38-minute record of his favourite music played out.

The Teenage Cancer Trust's chief executive Siobhan Dunn said:"Lichfield Cathedral is such a beautiful space and it's an opportunity for people especially from the local community who have been so incredibly supportive towards Stephen and all his family to come along and pay their respects and to celebrate his life."

In attendance was Celia Houghton and her 14-year-old daughter Freya, who had attended school with Stephen. The teenager remembered a powerful speech he gave to the school's assembly a year ago, saying 'he was one person who stood out'.

"He said 'don't measure time by the clock, measure it by what you do'," added Freya.

"When he died, people cried at school. I remember walking along the corridor and people were using Post-It notes to stick goodbye messages on the wall."

NEWS in brief

Sleeping woman rescued from fire

A SLEEPING householder was woken up by firefighters after burning food caused a fire at her home.

The woman was led to safety from the flat in Oak Lane, Burntwood, on Sunday. Crews from Chase Terrace and Cannock attended shortly after 9.20am.

A Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service spokesman said: "The fire was caused by burned food. One lady was rescued. She was asleep and two firefighters walked her to safety."

IN MY VIEW

WITH MARK ANDREWS

AFTER years of being told that online banking is the way to go, it now seems that there might be one significant drawback.

The computers of more than 15,000 people in the UK are already infected with a virus that could see millions of bank accounts cleared out, the National Crime Agency has warned. That's what happens when you entrust your finances to a system which is entirely revolves around the interests of the bankers.

Aside from the obvious drawback that I don't have a computer, I've never really trusted internet banking.

Why did anybody think that passing all your banking details through an international network of public computer systems, protected only by a password which is probably your dog's name, was going to be a secure way to conduct your finances?

Of course, the banks love internet accounts. It means they can sack all the staff in the branches, and provide a rudimentary customer service line from a call centre in Bombay. But what is in it for the customers?

Surely an extra £20 a year in interest is not worth exposing yourselves to the hackers.

MAKING another comeback worthy of Sinatra, silver-haired charmer Tony Blair has stepped into the old immigration chestnut.

Actually, after spending a bit too long sunning himself in the Middle East, the former prime minister is beginning to look something like an old chestnut these days, but that is another story.

Anyway, he has accused people opposed to large-scale European immigration of pandering to unpleasant prejudice. And that the influx of workers from Eastern Europe had nothing to do with unemployment in the tougher parts of Britain.

He might have added that there were many exciting employment opportunities for out-of-work British people who were willing to travel abroad. You know, in American banking corporations, peace envoy in the Middle East, president of the European Commission, that kind of thing.

What he did say, though, was that the 'white, working-class, unemployed youth in alienated communities in Britain' were held back by their own lack of education and skills'.

And there is doubtless some truth in what he says. But just one question. Who, was responsible for the education of these alienated youths for most of the last 20 years?

A fellow whose slogan was education, education, education, if my memory serves me rightly.

Jim Aston, from Lower Gornal

Jim and his wife Lilian visiting Monte Cassino in 2004

Jim journeys to remember battle

Veteran Jim Aston speaks to Mark Andrews about his return to Italy to remember his fallen comrades

"I was in a hotel just outside Cassino, (Italy) and I had just got off to sleep when I was woken by what appeared to be gunfire," says Jim Aston.

"I sat upright in my bed and wondered what to do next. It turned out to be a fireworks display, but I thought I was back in the war."

The flashback happened last week, during an emotional return to the scene of one of the bloodiest battles of the Second World War.

Mr Aston, from Dudley, was one 14 veterans who were taken on a return visit to the battlefields of Monte Cassino, where around 14,000 Allied troops were killed during some of the fiercest fighting of the conflict.

It was a bittersweet return for the 89-year-old, who lives in Coleridge Rise, Lower Gornal with his wife Lilian and son Paul.

During the trip, he attended a service to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the end of the battle, and he also shared a joke with Prince Harry during a reception at the British Embassy in Rome.

But he said there were also moments of sadness, as he remembered his fallen comrades, and in particular a close friend who was killed as his convoy made its way to Monte Cassino.

"When we went around the cemeteries, somebody asked me if I knew any of the people named on the grave," he says.

"I said I didn't know them personally, but I had probably seen some of their bodies."

Driver Aston, who served with the Royal Corps of Signals from 1943 to 1947, was attached to the 2nd Battalion of Carpathian Rifles – a Polish unit – during the assault on the Italian town of Cassino which ended in May 1944.

Jim Aston, from Lower Gornal, who has just returned from Monte Cassino

The week-long trip had been organised by the Monte Cassino Society, and paid for by the Big Lottery Fund. A total of 101 went, including family members.

Mr Aston told the prince he had to travel alone because his wife had been ill and had to pull out of the trip.

"He told me not to worry, there were lots of other women around," he said.

He met the prince during a reception at the British embassy in Rome. Earlier in the day, they had attended a service at the Cassino War Cemetery.

His role in the battle – which is often described as the forgotten campaign because it was overshadowed by the D-Day landings – was to lay the telephone wires that connected the observation post to the artillery, supplying them with details about the range for the artillery.

Many times, however, they ended up delivering the information in person.

"The wires often got blown apart and it was easier to relay than repair," he said.

He said the noise from the shelling was phenomenal.

"It was deafening," he says. "We were in front of the artillery, and they were firing the shells over our heads, and the Germans were also firing them back at them. We were there, caught in the middle of all this. We weren't in any danger because the Germans were going for the positions behind us, but it was very frightening."

Sadly, one man who did not make it to the battle was his close friend Douglas Earl, a corporal who was killed at the age of 26 in a motorcycle crash.

"We were travelling in convoy, we had passed through a town called Foggia, when shortly afterwards we came to a railway level crossing," he says.

"This crossing was not manned, and did not have a barrier, also it was on a double bend in the road.

"I was driving the last truck to go over the crossing, and shortly after the sergeant rode past shouting 'Stop!'.

"We all stopped, and we were told Douglas had been killed by a train on the crossing, it was an American freight train.

"It hit me very hard at the time, we were good friends. He was a quiet man, not the regimental type of corporal, we were on first name terms.

"I later discovered his wife was expecting a baby."

During the trip he visited the Abbey at Monte Cassino, which was rebuilt after the war, and the ruined village of San Pietro Infine which was left in its bomb-ravaged state as a memorial. The servicemen were also taken to Cemetery Sangro River.

The conditions of the series of four attacks were infamously tough, with soldiers having to climb steep terrain, brave terrible weather and withstand relentless Nazi bombardments. The four-month battle was viewed by Winston Churchill as crucial in securing Italy .

POLITICS

WITH DANIEL WAINWRIGHT

THE task of trying to hold on to Cannock Chase next year just became a little more difficult for the Conservatives. Paul Snape, leader of the council's Tory group, claimed MP Aidan Burley had not spoken to him since February 3.

This was two days before he announced he would not be contesting the seat again in 2015, following a series of highly-critical national newspaper stories about his involvement in a stag party where he got the groom to wear a Nazi uniform.

Mr Burley denies this and says they spoke in March, although Councillor Snape says it was just an exchange of pleasantries and did not really count.

Things got very awkward for the Tories after the elections. It started with Mr Burley and his fiancee, Rawnsley councillor Jodie Jones, being noticeably absent from the election count.

Then, as UKIP made enough gains to get level pegging with the Tories, Councillor Snape began to contemplate horse trading over who should be the official opposition.

Miss Jones made the decision for him, revealing she had resigned from the group to serve as an independent and plunging the Tories into third place.

Councillor Snape, meanwhile, is now preparing his group to choose a new Parliamentary candidate to replace Mr Burley. With all not well between all the Tories, the candidate who wins that selection will have one of the least enviable tasks in politics.

Firstly, they have to try to hold on to the seat that produced the biggest swing to the Tories in 2010. That will be no easy job given how Labour have not only made gains on the council but also made a huge deal of the whole unfortunate Nazi business.

Secondly, he or she will have to be able to liaise with Aidan Burley.

If he's not talking to party's local leader, that opens up the potential for a lot of mixed messages to the electorate. Thirdly, he or she will have to be nice about Aidan Burley in the face of criticism and ridicule about said stag do.

Bill Etheridge has had a good week. Having spent years trying to get elected, including a fourth place position in the Police and Crime Commissioner vote, he's now not only a UKIP councillor in Dudley but one of three of its West Midlands MEPs.

He's adamant he'll do both jobs. But Labour councillor Pete Lowe thinks it isn't possible. He asks: "How can he do potholes from Strasbourg?" Maybe he'll have time to do council business while on the monthly trip all MEPs have to make between Brussels and Strasbourg.

Crematorium at burial site is given approval

A CREMATORIUM will be built at a cemetery in Burntwood as part of a revamp of the site.

An existing building at Burntwood Cemetery – which currently only accommodates burials – will be converted into a crematorium after Lichfield District Council passed the proposals.

Fears were raised that the crematorium is too large, of an increase in traffic and that it could lead to pollution.

The number of parking spaces will be doubled to 40. The building is currently used for offices and storage.

Burntwood Town Council had objected over a lack of parking spaces and claimed the plans were 'impractical'.

Mourners

A letter from nearby Hammerwich parish council says: "The proposal leaves inadequate facilities for the staff and mourners."

It claimed the crematorium required more facilities and land than the application identified and that the facility would be only 110m from a school playing field.

Erasmus Darwin Academy objected on the grounds of fumes and there were five letters of objection.

A report to the council stated: "The business will operate on an hourly appointment basis only and at no time will there be a cremation and funeral burial at the same time.

"However, conditions are recommended in respect of appointments and hours of operation, so there is no undue general disturbance or lack of parking provision."

Crisis on housing increases

HOUSING evictions in the UK are soaring, 31,000 possession orders are being applied for by councils and 6,500 people are being evicted by private landlords.

This ruthless response from private landlords comes as no surprise, but councils should not be so quick to act – they are supposed to act with compassion, and only apply for possession orders when all efforts to help tenants have been exhausted.

The housing crisis is an increasing social problem caused by the Government's cruel policy on welfare.

Cuts to housing benefits, the bedroom tax and benefit caps are causing people to lose their homes.

Money is available to build council homes, it has been hoarded by councils for 30 years from council house sales. But the government has no plans to release it to invest in affordable homes and proper jobs.

Spurious reasons for closure plan

I RECENTLY found it necessary to attend the Minor Injuries Unit at Cannock Hospital.

I was attempting to duck under a descending metal garage door when I misjudged the distance between the floor and edge of the door resulting in a painful partial scalping.

I duly made my way to the Minor Injuries Unit, which was rather crowded. As I had a head wound I was looked at quickly, but it was decided the flap of skin was not urgent. Eventually I was looked after very well, treated and returned home.

I understand the minor injuries clinic had been earmarked for closure which would have been a tragedy for the residents of Cannock Chase.Where can they get such immediate medical treatment?

What I find galling is the NHS hierarchy and local councillors use spurious reasons for the closure plans stating that only 16,400 patients use the unit instead of the anticipated 20,000, I reckon a 75 per cent take up is pretty good and if there were more people using it my impression is the staff may not be able to cope with the extra demand.

It is of course all about finance, but why can't our politicians be honest and simply say: "Sorry folks due to government cuts we are closing the minor injury unit down, find your own method of seeking future medical treatment."

Explanation over defection needed

THE local election results led to Labour topping the popular vote and seeing the most councillors win. Labour councillors held all their seats and Norton Canes was gained, making a total of 25 councillors.

The Tories lost several councillors to both UKIP and Labour.

Furthermore, Councillor Jodie Jones on the day after the election defected and went Independent. I think residents will want an explanation from Councillor Jones.

Labour will continue to run the council with UKIP being the official opposition at Cannock Chase Council.

I acknowledge UKIP's vote in the Cannock Chase constituency and over the coming months I will speak with residents engaging with their concerns and aspirations for our area.

Thanks from councillor

I WOULD like to say a massive thanks to my agent Alan Pearson for all his help and support in my election campaign.

Also to the people who turned out to vote for me, I am eternally grateful and look forward to serving them to the best of my ability.

And finally to all those friends and family that gave their time delivering leaflets.

SHEILA CARTWRIGHT, Councillor

The 2015 campaign starts now

I WOULD like to thank every one who voted for me in the local election in Brereton and Ravenhill ward.

I took up a challenge and moved wards. I was not successful and it would have been a privilege to serve the ward where I grew up.

I was proud to have served the Rawnsley, Hazel Slade & Cannock Wood ward for the last four years – it was a great opportunity for me.

Before 2010 I had never been involved in politics in my life. I have enjoyed every minute serving my constituents, working to improve our community and helping and support the people of Cannock Chase.

Congratulations to the four new UKIP councillors that were elected – an impressive result. I'm looking forward to the next 12 months, the General Election and the next local elections in 2015. The campaign starts now.

LINDA WHITEHOUSE
Hednesford

Defying trend of town centre decline

I WISH to thank the voters of Hednesford Green Heath ward for supporting me at the local elections. Hednesford is booming and defying the national trend of town centre decline and I will continue to support investment in the area.

Cannock Chase Council will continue to try to protect services and to keep council tax as low as possible. Regarding the closure of the Minor Injuries Unit at Cannock Hospital, it is a well used facility and we want better NHS services in our area. We need to fight to keep what we have.

It is not the fault of local people that Commissioning Group have run up a massive deficit and the people of Cannock Chase should not have to suffer for their failure to manage their budgets.

GEORGE ADAMSON, Cannock

Not going anywhere

TO all the people who voted for me in Chadsmoor, Cannock East, and all the people that didn't, I will not be going anywhere and will carry on helping people in the ward I love and always have.

I will be back next year and will be campaigning to get Grahame Wiggin as a Member of Parliament.

DAVE MORRIS, UKIP

Thrilled to be elected

I WOULD like to express my sincere gratitude for all the kind people of Hawks Green who voted for me in the recent local election.

I am thrilled to have been elected and promise all, whether you voted for me or not that I will do my very best to represent all of you on Cannock Chase Council.

Misspelled sign points to red-faced councillors

Gavin Williamson MP looks at the misspelled sign for Wedges Mills, on the A4601 at its junction with Saredon Road

A SPELLING error on a village road is to be corrected after a complaint from a MP.

The road sign, located at the T-junction of Wolverhampton Road and Saredon Road, has been pointing the way to Wedges Mill for months.

But the name of the village in question is actually Wedges Mills.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson got in touch with authorities after residents raised concerns with him about the mistake. In response to Mr Williamson, Staffordshire County Council has stated it will replace the sign at the earliest convenience.

Important

Mr Williamson said: "The name of a village is its identity. It may be just one missing letter, but it is an extremely important letter to many of the residents of Wedges Mills."

And he added: "I am delighted that the council has agreed to replace the sign and fix the mistake."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Brian Stanley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done.

We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Wolverhampton and the surrounding area and Brian is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Brian a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Market use under the spotlight in survey

COUNCIL bosses have launched a consultation seeking views on how Rugeley's indoor market could be improved.

Cannock Chase Council is asking shoppers to complete a short survey. It will help the authority and traders understand who uses the market, how often they visit and what they use it for.

It also asks what would encourage people to shop in the market and what improvements need to be made there.

Council officers will be in Rugeley Town Centre during this month to carry out the consultation.

by Rob Golledge

Reception

Shoppers can also collect a survey from the reception areas at Rugeley Library, the town council office and from Rugeley Leisure Centre.

Traders at Rugeley Market will also have copies of the survey.

The council also runs the indoor market hall and Prince of Wales Market in Cannock.

Councillor Diane Todd, the council's leader for Town Centre Regeneration, said "Local markets are a vital part of our town centre economy.

"We would like to encourage as many people to complete this survey as it will help the council understand what people want from their local market and how we can make improvements".

The council will be launching a campaign to encourage more people to shop at their local market in July.

The council manages two markets – Cannock Indoor Market Hall and Prince of Wales Market and Rugeley Market Hall.

Rugeley Market Hall is open on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, 9am to 4.30pm.

The closing date is Monday, June 23

The survey is available on the council's website at www.cannockchasedc.gov.uk/consultation.

Wheels of love still turning for couple

Jill and Don Corbett of Burntwood, who are celebrating their Diamond Wedding anniversary

THE wheels of love have been turning for 60 years for childhood sweethearts who share a passion for cycling.

Don and Jill Corbett, who first met at the age of 14, were married in St James' Church in Handsworth, on June 5, 1954. They have one son, Martin, and four grandchildren.

They have lived in Burntwood for the past 48 years. Jill, aged 80,used to work at St Matthew's Hospital, while 81-year-old Don is a former tanker driver for BP.

They will celebrate on Sunday with a gathering of family and friends at their home in Warren Road.

Gateway Club disco

A DISCO for vulnerable adults will be held in Burntwood tomorrow (Friday). Burntwood Gateway Club will host Stars at Burntwood Memorial Community Hall, Rugeley Road, from 7 to 10pm. Entry is £3 and money goes towards the club. For more information call 01543 301497.

Sights of game follow sounds of gig

Sight 'n' Sound, who are performing at the Tackeroo in Hednesford on Saturday, June 14

ROCKERS Sight n Sound are back playing in Hednesford next week – for a game of two halves.

The five-piece outfit performed a reunion gig at the Tackeroo, Bracken Close, Brindley Heath in February, and have been asked to play there again.

This time the gig coincides with England's World Cup opener against Italy. Fans can watch the band perform classics such as Bohemian Rhapsody and Hotel California before then enjoying the big game on the big screen.

The concert starts at 8.30pm. Sight n Sound's Brian Eustace said: "We couldn't believe how many people turned out for the first show.

"It was amazing and really spurred us on. We would just like to say a big thanks from all of us for their support."

Real ales and live music

TICKETS are on sale for a fundraising night at the Staffordshire Wildlife Trust HQ.

The Real Ale and Ceilidh Night takes place on Friday, June 27 from 6.30 to 11pm at the Wolseley Centre. Tickets are £6 and available, in advance only, from the centre's reception from 9am to 5pm weekdays and 11am-5pm weekends.

A range of real ales, wines and ciders will be on offer as well as live music from traditional Irish band Blarney Stone.

Alison Rhodes, commercial manager at Staffordshire Wildlife Trust said: "This event follows on from our hugely popular food and beer festivals.

Fantastic

"It is a chance to not only enjoy the best of Staffordshire's local ales, but enjoy some fantastic live music. All proceeds will go towards our work looking after the county's wildlife."

Last year the food and beer festival attracted around 1,500 visitors a huge choice of ales from local brewers on tap including Slaters Ales, of Stafford, Alton-based Peakstones Rock Brewing Company, and Backyard Brewhouse from Walsall, all of which will feature this year.

Call 01889 880100 for more details or to reserve a ticket.

Developers make pupils feel at home

Brandon Lewis, aged eight and Tegan Massey, seven, visit the Barratt Homes site with Gorsemoor classmates

YOUNGSTERS donned hard hats and high-visibility jackets as they explored a housing development.

Pupils from Gorsemoor Primary in Heath Hayes were taken on a tour of Barratt Homes' Keepers Chase development in Lichfield Road, Cannock.

The Year Two pupils learned about how homes are built and the hidden dangers that exist on building sites.

Teacher James Riley helped to organise the visit with Barratt Homes site manager Jim Rogers.

James said: "They were delighted to invite a class along and visit the site. The children had a great time and came away having learned something valuable."

Jim said: "The purpose of visits like these is to teach the children that a building site is not a playground. We walk around the site pointing out the obstacles and overhead dangers and encourage the children to interact and come up with different scenarios that may occur. We have some fun, but the main aim of the day is to help keep them safe."

Lucy Turner, sales manager at Barratt Homes West Midlands, said: "This type of visit gives children a 'hands on' experience of a building site and really helps the lessons stick in the children's minds."

Clare's Law leads to 16 requests in county

SIXTEEN people across Staffordshire have applied for information about whether their partners have a history of domestic abuse.

Deputy Police & Crime Commissioner Sue Arnold revealed that 16 applications had been received under the county's domestic violence disclosure scheme, known as 'Clare's Law', which came into effect in March.

by Mark Andrews

Under 'Clare's Law', people with concerns about their partner can ask for information about whether they have previous history of domestic abuse or violent acts.

Suspicions

A panel – made up of police, probation services and other agencies – check requests to make sure all information passed on is lawful, proportionate and necessary.

Mrs Arnold said: "Domestic abuse in any form is unacceptable.

"I would encourage anyone who may have suspicions about their partner's history to act now, using 'Clare's Law', and save themselves from pain in the future."

She said the commissioner's strategy, published last year, set out tackling domestic abuse as a priority.

"The best support for potential victims is to stop abuse happening in the first place, which is where 'Clare's Law' comes in."

The new rules take their name from 36-year-old Clare Wood, who was murdered by her ex-boyfriend in 2009.

Staffordshire Police Assistant Chief Constable Nick Baker said: "Domestic abuse shatters lives.

"This initiative can help people who are concerned about this type of crime to feel reassured that they don't have to suffer and help is available."

Children's visit is out of this world

The Year 5 Chase View Primary School pupils outside the National Space Centre in Leicester

PUPILS in Rugeley learned about life beyond the earth by visiting the National Space Centre in Leicester.

Year 5 children at Chase View Primary have been learning about the solar system in science and each class member completed a project representing the planets and space. The visit to the Space Centre was arranged to complement this work. The children visited the Planetarium and were given a tour of the night sky. They also enjoyed a trip in a space simulator and found time to explore the interactive attractions and learned about the space race between Russia and America.

Teacher Paul Mobberley said: "The pupils learned a huge amount from the experience with a small number of them expressing a wish to pursue a career in space exploration."

Plans to expand quarry

A QUARRY will almost double in size as part of controversial proposals to expand the site.

South Staffordshire MP Gavin Williamson has joined campaigners against the expansion to Saredon Quarry. Bosses say the development is vital to secure jobs and ensure reserves of minerals do not run out.

But people living near the site have voiced fears that it will lead to an increase in noise, dust and lorries entering the site.

The plans have been recommended for approval by council bosses – but Mr Gavin Williamson has lodged an objection on behalf of residents.

Noise

The quarry will be be increased from 15.5 hectares to 27.6 hectares under proposals by owners Breedon Aggregates. The county council was debating the plans today (Thursday). A report reveals there have been complaints about vehicles and noise at the site, which is used to excavate minerals for the building industry.

Mr Williamson said he 'fears the adverse impact on local residents and potential damage to nearby historic properties' and 'would like the council to ensure that local residents' interests are protected'.

Financial adviser's victim tells of ordeal

A MOTHER-of-three who lost thousands of pounds in an investment scam has spoken of her ordeal after a financial adviser was jailed.

Crooked Mark Lewis, of Oakdene Close, Hednesford, admitted 16 charges of defrauding £478,000 from eight victims, from May 2008 to September 2012.

After serving six months behind bars on remand, Lewis was jailed for six years and five months. He will serve half then remain on licence.

Financial adviser Mark Lewis

A court heard he promised 'unrealistic' returns on investments in property schemes and solar panels, in some cases up to 25 per cent, but instead pocketed the cash.

One of his victims, a 49-year-old woman from Cheslyn Hay, said Lewis 'sweet-talked' her into 'investing' with him. She had planned to put the money towards paying off her mortgage.

Settlement

The woman, who did not want to be named, said the £28,000 she invested was the divorce settlement from her husband's previous marriage.

"We'd waited 11 years for it, and it was in our hands for less than two weeks," she said.

"Mark said we could make a good return really quickly for us so we invested it with him. I told him we needed the money back by October because I had to change our mortgage plan. He said 'no problem'."

Lewis, 50, was originally a partner in a legitimate mortgage advice business in Cannock but after setting up on his own he began conning people. He claimed their cash would be invested in properties that would be renovated and sold on at a profit.

Only one property was ever bought. Several of his victims watched at Stafford Crown Court as he was sentenced. He had initially faced 39 charges of fraud totalling £2.2million but not guilty charges were recorded against those.

His Cheslyn Hay victim said she felt embarrassed at being duped.

"You feel shame. You just feel why didn't someone, somewhere say something.

"We thought he always looked so smart, he drove the latest big Audi cars, we thought he must know what he's doing."

She added: "How on earth could he do this to us.

"He knew from day one that we were never going to get our money back."

Suspended term for user after cannabis found

CANNABIS with a street value of more than £10,000 was found at the home of a Cannock man, Stafford Crown Court was told.

Police discovered the stash in an outhouse at the home of Andrew Harley, a cannabis user in debt to dealers, last November.

The father-of-four was arrested and told officers he would weigh out the cannabis into packages of a quarter of an ounce and would be paid £50 for selling it on as well as taking some for himself.

Harley said he had a drug debt of £6,000 and had the cannabis to help pay it off, although he refused to name the dealer. Mr Phillip Beardmore, prosecuting, said that if sold in the smallest quantities on the streets the value of the cannabis was in excess of £10,000.

Harley, aged 39, of Sherwood Drive, admitted possessing drugs with intent to supply and was given an 18-month prison sentence suspended for two years, and ordered to do 100 hours unpaid community work and to pay £340 costs.

Mr Rob Perry, defending, said Harley had been a 'fairly significant' cannabis user to alleviate the discomfort of a medical condition, but had now stopped and had a full-time job.

President elected for a 12th year

HAYES GREEN WI

PRESIDENT Sandy Hobbs welcomed members to the club's AGM and opened the evening's agenda. Three returning members, and three new members have joined.

Secretary Elaine Smith read the minutes of the April meeting and treasurer Rosemary Larkin gave the financial report for the year.

The October group meeting will be hosted by Norton Canes WI.

Diane Bevan and Sue King gave details of forthcoming trips to Weston Park, Warwick and Churnet Valley Railway.

The county executive member wasn't able to attend, so Eva talked the group through the resolution to be discussed and voted upon at the national AGM in Leeds. This was 'Increasing organ donation'.

Mrs Hobbs presented her annual address. She thanked the committee for their support throughout the year and also members who help with various jobs. Mrs Hobbs was again voted in as president for the coming year – her 12th in office.

The recent jumble sale was a great success and activities have been varied and enjoyable during the year.

The competition was won by June. Diane, Wendy and Sue received gift vouchers for the most competition wins during the year.

Awards for 100 per cent attendance were presented to Mary, June, Eva, Pat, Celia and Margaret. Visitors are always warmly welcomed at S. John's Church Hall on the first Wednesday of each month at 7.30pm.

Embroidery in frame to celebrate 60 years

SOROPTIMISTS

Soroptimist Lynne Tuckley presents the 60th year embroidery to president Dr Janis Lomas

A BEAUTIFUL embroidered wall hanging was presented to new SI Cannock & District president Janis Lomas.

Soroptimist Lynne Tuckley designed and made the framed embroidery to celebrate the 60th anniversary year of the Cannock club.

The excitement was tinged with sadness at the death of well-loved 37-year long-serving member June Ward.

She will be missed by everyone in the Cannock club.

President Janis said her focus for awareness and fundraising would be on women victims of domestic violence.

The club will be supporting Staffordshire Women's Aid and Pathway and two fundraising events have been arranged.

On June 12 at the Barns, Lesley Smith of Tutbury Castle will be Mary Queen of Scots. Tickets are £18.50 and include a two course meal.

On Sunday July 13 at Ingestre, Notty Hornblower of The Hope Costume Museum, Derby, will present a cavalcade of fashions from the last 60 years. Tickets are £22 to include an afternoon tea.

Bakery founders' return visit

GREAT WYRLEY TG

MARGARET and Eugene Schellenberg made a return visit to the May meeting.

They went on holiday to Ifakara in 1998 and were asked for help to build the first bakery in a small town some 250 miles south west of Dar es Salaam. The main reason was to ensure food all the year round even when they had a poor harvest.

They raised £30,000 to buy machinery, an oven and equipment including a generator. The donations also paid for transportation, clearing charges and installation costs. They went back to Ifakara to install the equipment and teach the Sisters how to bake bread.

A hundred loaves a day were produced, rising now to between 400 and 900 loaves daily. At the end of Eugene's talk and update he was presented with a cheque for £500 by TG secretary Jenny Johnson

Widow seeks answers over industrial death

THE family of a former National Coal Board worker want his ex-colleagues to come forward to help with a legal claim.

Ron Ball, from Penkridge, died aged 80, in August 2011.

He had been suffering from breathlessness for a couple of months and only the day before he died had been diagnosed with mesothelioma.

Specialist lawyers are investigating whether more could have been done to protect him from asbestos dust and are appealing for ex-colleagues to contact them with information.

Ron's widow Joan, 82, claims her husband was allowed to work in conditions without appropriate protection and has instructed expert industrial disease lawyers at Irwin Mitchell.

Ron Ball, from Penkridge, and his wife Joan

Aggressive

Ron worked as a cage winder for the National Coal Board from 1951-60 at Littleton pit, in Huntington.

He then joined Cramic Aircraft Components Limited, based in Tipton, from 1960-71 where he worked as a machinist and then a quality control inspector.

Iain Shoolbred, an industrial disease expert at Irwin Mitchell's Birmingham office, said: "Mesothelioma is an aggressive and incurable cancer which causes so much distress to victims like Ron who worked in industries such as mining – a trade where we know workers regularly came into contact with asbestos.

"We hope his former colleagues will be able to confirm Ron's recollection of how the National Coal Board may have used asbestos and whether more could potentially have been done by his employers to protect him."

Joan, who is now retired, said: "Mesothelioma was not diagnosed until the day before Ron died. It shocked me how quickly he declined.

"I now hope as many of his ex-workmates as possible will help the team at Irwin Mitchell investigate if more could potentially have been done by his employer to protect him so we can finally honour his memory and get justice for losing him in such a terrible way."

Anyone with information about the working conditions at the Littleton pit or Cramic Aircraft Limited between those dates should call Iain Shoolbred on 0121 214 5446 or email iain.shoolbred@irwinmitchell.com.

Dead and injured in the crash

How the Chronicle's sister paper the Express & Star covered the fatal rail crash with its front page in May 1964

50 years since school trip ended in tragedy

FIFTY years ago Liam Heffernan stood on the platform, desperate for news about his little girl, Christine.

MEMORY LANE
by Dan Wainwright

The nine-year-old Stafford schoolgirl was one of three people killed in a rail crash on a trip to York in 1964.

Parents Liam, now 88, and Mary, 87, never got over the loss of their eldest child. Every Christmas, two six-inch trees that their daughter bought are given pride of place among the decorations.

Christine was one of two children who died after a bridge collapsed from under it at Cheadle Hulme, near Manchester. The bridge, it later emerged, was a temporary one.

It had been there six months as part of a road widening scheme being carried out by Cheshire County Council.

Eleven people, including children, were injured.

The nine-coach train, which became known as The Lollipop Express, had 234 children from St Austin's Roman Catholic School, Yarnfield County Primary, Cooper Perry County Primary and Gnosall County Primary on board. Dozens of ambulances went to their aid.

Christine's brother John, aged two at the time, said: "My father, Liam, stood at Stafford station for several hours before he found out Christine had been killed. The official report said the driver had been going too fast through maintenance works."

The Heffernan family, including Christine's other siblings, Tom, Liam, Mary-Ann and Theresa, will join other families for a special remembrance mass at 10am St Austin's Catholic Church tomorrow (Friday). It will be followed by a rose planting at St Austin's school. The tragedy happened at 9.40am on May 28, an hour and 45 minutes after the train left Gnosall.

Gnosall County Primary teachers Gordon Leese and Margaret Badham gathered the children and took them to a local park. Children were then taken to a Methodist mission hall to be checked by doctors.

Dozens were trapped under the wreckage. Strewn along the line were clothing, footwear and bags containing packed lunches. The last to be rescued was nine-year-old John Gibson.

British Rail put on a special train to take the uninjured children home. Four had to stay in Stockport Infirmary in a serious condition. Susan Middleton, aged just 11, lost a leg. Another 13 were treated in casualty.

Father Michael McKenna, the then priest at St Austin's, was criticised by British Railways police inspector Leslie Clark for informing relatives about injuries and a death. He said he felt it was his responsibility to inform them.

Author makes light work of book launch

Cindy Faulkner from Hednesford with her latest book that was launched at a family fun day at the Lightworks

AN author launched her new children's book last weekend, joining forces with a shopping centre to host a family fun day.

The event, organised by Cindy Faulkner and the Lightworks centre, in Hednesford raised £71 for Special Needs Adventure Playground Snap.

Families were treated to story-telling sessions, singing, narrowboat crafts and a bouncy castle at the activity day at the Market Street precinct.

Mrs Faulkner, aged 56, says: "The children had a lovely day getting involved in all the activities and the parents had a good time on the karaoke machine.

"We're hoping to hold a few more events in the future. It's all about helping each other otherwise out little towns will disappear."

Shoppers helped to raise the money by taking part in a raffle and a tombola.

Saturday's fun day saw the writer and illustrator, of Shaftesbury Drive, Hednesford launch her fourth published work, titled A Very Unusual Wednesday.

Her new found career was launched after she took up art and writing classes after suffering health problems.

Charity to open up a shop at waste site

A CHARITY will set up a base at a tip to make use of goods that would otherwise be thrown away.

Katharine House Hospice, which has shops across the county, will convert a unit at the Poplars Landfill site in Cannock site to take in furniture and household items.

Bosses say they have been inspired by the success of similar projects across the country and hope it will boost the number of donations.

By Adam Burling

The proposals were being considered by Staffordshire County Council's planning committee today (Thursday) and have been recommended for approval.

Enterprise

A report to the meeting states: "Household waste recycling sites are a focus for reusing and recycling items that would otherwise be destined for landfill.

"The proposed re-use shop and display area is intended to aid the storage and collection of recyclable waste.

"The reuse shop would be run as a charitable enterprise, making use of the unwanted goods brought to landfill and reclaimed." In arguing the case for the new unit, the charity says: "The opportunity for the sale of reusable goods is dramatically enhanced due to the natural footfall associated with the site.

"Another stand-alone shop in a retail area would need to generate its own footfall and would be in direct competition with other retail outlets in the area, including other charity shops.

"The shop, being run by a local charity, would provide residents with the opportunity and incentive to donate their reusable goods rather than disposing of them at the site, with significant residual waste reduction as a result."

Staff work hard to raise charity cash

Head of HR Alison Field presents the cheque to Macmillan area fundraising manager Janos Toth

STAFF at a Cannock firm have raised more than £15,000 for Macmillan Cancer Support. Employees at materials handling services specialist Briggs Equipment have been waxing, spinning, running, golfing, dressing up and baking.

Macmillan was the Cannock-based company,'s chosen charity for 2013/14. They raised £15,535 and have handed over a cheque to the charity's area fundraising manager Janos Toth. He said: "We were delighted to be voted Briggs Equipment's chosen charity and are extremely grateful to everyone at the company for their huge effort in raising such a fantastic sum."

Fire cadets to learn drill

FIRE chiefs have launched a recruitment drive for cadets and volunteer instructors.

Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service is calling on 14-17-year-olds to apply for the pioneering training scheme, which last year was the first of its kind nationally.

The next courses, which run for 39-weeks, will start in September and there are 14 places available at each participating fire station, including at Cannock and Rugeley.

Cadets will learn basic firefighting techniques and life skills. The course is designed to combat anti-social behaviour and promote citizenship among young people. Upon successful completion of the training, the cadets will achieve BTEC Level 2 certificate in Fire and Rescue Services in the community. To apply for a place on one of the courses, visit http://www.staffordshirefire.gov.uk/2921.asp before June 30.

Volunteer Instructors must be over 18 and are required to support the running of a cadet unit one evening or a Saturday morning every week as well as some weekends during school term time. To apply , visit www.wm-jobs.co.uk before June 20.

The two and a half hour sessions will be held on Saturday mornings at both Cannock and Rugeley.

Concerns as lending falls

A BUSINESS bosses says he is concerned that lending from banks and building societies to firms has fallen.

Net lending to businesses fell by £2.7bn in the first quarter of 2014, while lending to small and medium-sized firms went down by £723m, according to the Bank of England.

Chris Plant, director of Chase Chamber of Commerce, said: "It is concerning that lending to firms across the country has continued to contract even though the Funding for Lending scheme has been re-focused towards business lending."

£400,000 a year for new HS2 high-flyer

A THIRD Network Rail high-flyer has been poached by HS2 – and he will be paid almost £400,000 a year.

Jim Crawford will join his former colleagues Simon Kirby and Sir David Higgins in running the £50 billion project.

Mr Crawford will take over as programme director – Phase One. He was previously in charge of the £6.5bn Thameslink upgrade with Network Rail.

Jim Crawford

Chief executive Simon Kirby is paid £750,000 and chairman Sir David receives nearly £600,000.

Mr Kirby said: "Building Britain's much-needed high speed rail network will be a major undertaking and we need the best people to help deliver it on schedule and within the budget we have been set.

"Jim Crawford's experience speaks for itself but I know just how capable he is from our time together at Network Rail working on the multi-billion pound investment in Thameslink.

Calibre

"I am very pleased that someone of Jim's calibre is joining us as we have much to do between now and when we expect to have spades in the ground in 2017."

Mr Crawford took over the Thameslink programme in 2009 – delivering some notable milestones, including the rebuilding of London Blackfriars and Farringdon stations.

At HS2 Ltd he will be completing the set-up of the team that will be responsible for the delivery of the multi-billion pound construction programme for the first phase of the new high speed rail network between London and West Midlands.

The salaries of the top HS2 bosses have drawn controversy, but Transport Secretary Patrick McLoughlin has defended the high pay.

He said: "We are going for the best engineers in the world to engineer this project. It is a large salary but I am pleased that engineers, rather than bankers, can be seen to get big rewards for delivering what will be very important pieces of national infrastructure."

A total of 1,925 petitions have been sent to the Government opposing HS2, putting a 2017 start date in jeopardy.

Campaigners say it will take at least two years for MPs on the HS2 Select Committee to examine the detail alone before Parliament has to vote on the project again.

Degree course in performing arts launched

A NEW degree in performing arts is being launched by South Staffordshire College.

The college has campuses in Cannock, Penkridge, Lichfield and Tamworth and the foundation degree in Performing Arts (Musical Theatre) is being run in conjunction with Staffordshire University.

The qualification is a two-year course which can be converted to a full BA Honours degree with a one year top-up at the university.

Course leader Laurie Asher said: "Musical theatre is one of the biggest employers of performers within the entertainment industry.

"The college aims to attract students who have potential to succeed, including those who may have been offered places at drama school but were unable to afford the fees."

The course includes a full first year of acting, singing and dancing training and a second year focusing on professional industry work-based performance.

It comes as the college's BTEC musical theatre students gear up for their final major production, All Shook Up which runs at The Lichfield Garrick Theatre on June 10 and 11. Tickets are £12 from 01543 412121 or www.lichfieldgarrick.com

Visit Norton Canes

Norton Canes is a village and civil parish on the southern edge of Cannock Chase District. It is situated three miles out of the centre of Cannock. At the 2001 census it had a population of 6,394 and an area of 3,746 acres of which 86 per cent is green open space.

The Cannock Chase Coalfield once had 45 collieries within two miles of Norton Canes, employing more than 5,800 men, as well as two large surface mines. The last pit in the area closed in 1993. Grove Pit was one of these pits, and on October 1, 1930 was the scene of a major tragedy when 14 miners were killed in an explosion.

Another local colliery was owned by the Jerome family, hence Jerome Road now stands on the site of the pit. This was the family of the author Jerome K. Jerome. Norton Canes borders Chasewater - a collection of man-made lakes formed through old mining pits and a reservoir that feeds the canal system of West Midlands. Chasewater is a popular leisure destination offering facilities for water-skiing and yachting, mountain biking, jogging, walking and bird watching.

Norton Canes straddles the UK's first and only Toll Motorway, the M6 Toll which has its northern Toll Plaza and Norton Canes Services is the only services for that motorway.

Last year saw the launch of the new revamped skatepark in the village. The project was led by the parish council and funded by a grant from Veolia Environmental Trust and supported by Cannock Chase District Council.

Norton Canes holds the claim to fame of being home to Europe's first drive-through chemist. This is now closed as the chemist has moved into the local health centre located in Brownhills Road. Norton Canes in home to two primary schools; Jerome Primary School and Norton Canes Primary. The Jerome Primary School was named to reflect the association with the Jerome family who owned the pit.

There is also a high school, in Burntwood Road, a specialist maths and computing college, with 467 students on roll. The school was recently named as the 16th most improved school nationally and its academic achievement has increased for the last nine consecutive years. One if its students, Brad Robins, was presented with youth endeavour award by parish council chairman John Bernard for his efforts to support the PTA at Jerome. He is a youth advocate, supporting the village library and organizes events for young people there.

Norton Canes is also home to numerous business parks, which brings a large variety of businesses from industrial to commercial to the area.

Anfield of dreams for Sunday league players

PLAYERS from a Sunday league team lived the dream when they stepped out on the pitch at the home of Premier League giants Liverpool.

Hawkins Sports FC, of Cheslyn Hay, took on Essex's Crittalls FC at Anfield after the teams came top in an online vote run by Barclays.

Hawkins lost a penalty shoot-out 5-3 after drawing 1-1, but say it was an experience they will never forget.

The team's bid for glory was driven by a campaign in memory of seven-year-old Ava-Mae Titley, who died last year. Her cousin and Hawkins player Ashley Perry, head of sport at Kingsmead High School in Hednesford, is raising cash for Leukaemia Research UK in her memory.

He is entering the Iron Man UK endurance competition in Bolton in June – and decided to get his team-mates on board to boost his fundraising total, which has already passed £1,000.

Cheered

More than 100 fans travelled to Anfield and cheered on the team.

The players were given a training session by Liverpool legend John Aldridge before the game and got changed in the same dressing room used by the likes of Steven Gerrard and Luis Suarez.

Adam Pearce, who runs the team, said: "It was amazing to think of all the players that had sat in that room through the club's history and then we were there about to play on the pitch.

"It was a great experience and the result doesn't matter at all. It's all about the reason we were there and the money being raised."

After the match they were treated to a meal in the players' lounge. Teams from across the UK entered the competition and judges picked four finalists for the public vote. The two sides with the most 'likes' on Facebook after five days would go to Anfield – and Hawkins clocked up more than 6,000.

Mr Pearce said some were nervous about the match when they stayed in a Liverpool hotel the night before.

Now preparations are moving forward for next season – while Mr Perry is doing his final training for the Iron Man contest. Mr Pearce added: "It's given a boost to the cause we are supporting, which is the main thing really."

Hawkins bosses are looking for sponsors for next season. Businesses wanting to get involved can email adam@sunsolarenergy.co.uk.

Year road ban for drink-driver

A DRINK-driver has been banned from the roads for a year.

Adam Jones, aged 19, of Cemetery Road, Cannock, was stopped by police while driving 'quickly' along St George's Parade in Wolverhampton at around 12.30am on May 16.

City magistrates heard his breath contained 55 micrograms of alcohol per 100 millilitres. The legal limit is 35.

Stupid

Jones pleaded guilty at Wolverhampton Magistrates Court to a charge of drink-driving. He told the bench: "It was stupid and I knew at the time I was being stupid."

Magistrates revoked his licence for 12 months, with the opportunity to reduce that ban by three months by completing a drink-drivers' rehabilitation course.

Singing group members plea

A SINGING group has issued a plea for new members. Chadsmoor Choral Society has been in existence for 40 years and rehearses at Chadsmoor Methodist Church on Wednesdays from 7.30pm.

Recent shows include The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe the musical in 2012 and Oklahoma! in 2013, both performed at The Prince Of Wales Centre.

Variety

On Saturday (June 7), the society is taking place in The Sue Ryder Cancer Care fundraising day at Morrisons supermarket in Mill Street, Cannock. In the autumn, it will put on a variety showat Chadsmoor Methodist Church.

Anyone interested is asked to go along to a rehearsal or find the group on Facebook.

Conman jailed for tickets scam

A FORMER prison officer with a gambling addiction cheated internet buyers out of thousands of pounds by pretending to have tickets for top events on sale.

Conman Jamie Forsyth, of Penkridge, replied to adverts on Gumtree for tickets to Wimbledon, V, Glastonbury and T in the Park, Stafford Crown Court heard. He got buyers to transfer cash straight in to his bank account, but the tickets never existed.

The victims were fobbed off with 'sob stories' from Forsyth about bereavement, illness and family problems and, except for £50, none of them got their money back.

Mr Oliver Woolhouse, prosecuting, said Forsyth swindled 19 online buyers out of a total of £4,570. Forsyth, aged 31, of Elmdon Close, was jailed for 16 months after admitting 18 charges of fraud and asking for one more to be considered.

Magistrates had previously jailed him for 25 weeks for identical offences in September 2012, but the con continued within months of his release.

Recorder Mr David Bright told him: "You fell prey to a gambling habit and ran up significant debts. Your responsible employment in the prison service came to an end in May 2012 and you carried out quite a sophisticated and systematic fraud."

Forsyth also claimed to have iPads, cameras and mobile phones for sale. One buyer was told a camera was being sold because Forsyth's brother had died. Some victims were buying birthday or Christmas gifts.

Mr Chris Clark, defending, blamed spiralling debts. He added Forsyth was receiving treatment fora serious personality disorder.

Campaign stepped up for town's new health centre

OPPOSITION councillors have stepped up a campaign for a new multi-million pound health centre in Burntwood.

Work on the facility should have got under way last year after plans were agreed in 2011.

by Rob Golledge

But, following the restructure of the NHS, the town has been left in a state of limbo over the planned GP and nursing complex.

Health bosses say the clinic which is set to serve 22,000 patients, is being reviewed but now two leading councillors are pressing the NHS for action.

Councillor Alan White, Conservative care chief at Staffordshire County Council, and Sue Woodward deputy leader of the Labour opposition, have joined forces to pressure NHS bosses.

Agreed

The proposed development – on the site of Burntwood Leisure Centre – has been in the pipeline for a number of years but was not finally agreed before the reorganisation of the NHS last April.

Councillor White said: "The health needs of the Burntwood community are well-documented and this development is very important to the local community.

"It's therefore also important that politicians of all persuasions work together to get the services the town needs, deserves and has been promised."

Councillor Woodward said: "This issue goes way beyond party politics and I'm grateful to councillor White and to colleagues from Labour and Conservative parties for continuing to press for this facility."

The councillors said Burntwood was promised the new centre after the closure of both St Matthew's and Hammerwich hospitals.

The councillors are getting the town, district and county councils to lobby on behalf of local residents.

"We have to keep the focus on the strong case for better health facilities in Burntwood and trust that NHS England will do the right thing," said Councillor Woodward.

NHS England said the Burntwood Health Centre had a number of 'complexities' and did get full approval in time before the restructure of the health service in April last year.

Its 'business case, affordability and sustainability' are being scrutinised, an NHS England spokesman said.

Team takes a punt on fundraising

AN npower employee from Burntwood joined 50 of her colleagues to complete a 21-mile row in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support.

Claire Walker was motivated to row across Lake Windermere after hearing about the company's campaign, which offers 10 challenges to mark 10 years of working with Macmillan.

The 10 for 10 fundraiser aims to support people affected by cancer who are struggling to pay their energy bills.

Claire was in a team of four and completed the row in seven hours in a wooden boat. The 35-year-old co-ordinator said: "It's for a worthy cause and I'm really proud that npower will match my sponsorship."

Npower's pound for pound scheme will see the group's funds doubled to more than £21,000.

Peter Hellewell, head of field operations, said: "Macmillan is a wonderful charity and our ten-year partnership is something we're very proud of."

Wheels in motion on funds bid

A TEENAGER with quadriplegic cerebral palsy is fundraising for a charity which is providing him with a specialist wheelchair.

Ben Gilbert, aged 18, of Burntwood, is raising money for Caudwell Children and has already raised more than £1,600 towards his £6,500 target.

Ben said: "I want to be able to go to university and fulfil my dream of becoming an actor. I like to go out with my friends and have my own independence.

"I'm fundraising for Caudwell Children because they are providing me with a specialist powerchair.

"The funds we raise will help me and other young people like me."

Caudwell Children is also asking people to support the charity's Give 30 campaign. It encourages people to volunteer 30 minutes of their time or donate £30.

Craft stall traders plea

TRADERS can snap up a pitch at a popular festival's craft stall.

Stallholders can still obtain a place at July 19's Burntwood Wakes.

The event, which is organised by Burntwood Town Council, is being held at Burntwood Rugby Club.

Pitches cost £18 but traders will need to bring their own tables and chairs.

For more details call 01543 677166.

Just what the doctor ordered

ELECTRONIC prescriptions are being introduced in Burntwood and Lichfield as part of plans to roll out the new system across the county.

Patients can now use the service that bosses say reduces the need to visit a surgery just to collect a paper prescription.

The Electronic Prescription Service (EPS) is being introduced at the Spires practices, at St Chad's Health Centre in Dimbles Lane, Lichfield and at Burntwood Health Centre in Hudson Drive.

It means a patient can choose for their prescriptions to be securely sent electronically from their GP to a pharmacy of their choice.

Health chiefs say benefits to patients include being able to choose a pharmacy that is most convenient for them and they say there willbe no need to visit the GP practice just to collect prescriptions.

The system is also expected to lead to shorter waits at the pharmacy, as prescriptions can be prepared in advance.

Patients who would like to use the service will need to nominate their preferred pharmacy, which can be changed at any time.

Patients will then request their prescription in the usual way – at reception, the pharmacy or online.

Lions celebrate birthday

RUGELEY Lions celebrated the club's birthday with its annual dinner and dance. More than 70 members came together for the special dinner with friends and family at Hawkesyard Golf Club in Rugeley.

The theme this year was Christmas. President Tim Burgin dressed up as Santa and the room was decorated with festive trees.

John Holmes will take over as the new president of the club on July 1. The club is currently recruiting new members. Anyone interested should call 07583 721410.

Ex-coach firm boss dies at age of 84

A FORMER coach boss who bought his first minibus with savings earned from doing three jobs a day has died aged 84.

Robert 'Rocky' Adams had been ill since suffering a stroke at Christmas. He died at the Manor Hospital in Walsall on Friday (May 30).

He was described as a larger-than-life character who loved a pint with friends at the end of the working day.

Mr Adams started the family coach business, Adams Tours, in 1971 with one red Commer minibus.

It followed years of holding down three jobs – as a milkman doing his rounds in Penkridge, as a furniture remover and as a minibus driver.

Adopted at the age of three, he worked with cattle on local farms after leaving school before joining the Merchant Navy.

Robert Adams in 2013

Delivery

He did his National Service in the Army but his time was cut short after he was shot in the leg and was flown home to recuperate.

It was after leaving the Army that he got a job as a milkman with the Co-Op, starting his 18-hour working day at 5am, driving a horse-drawn milk cart from the dairy in Bloxwich to his delivery round in Penkridge. Later he took over the round on the Mossley estate in Bloxwich, where he lived.

In the afternoons he worked for Dawson's Furniture Removals, finishing the day as a driver for Dawson's Coaches.

The father-of-eight took over the driving business when he started up on his own, expanding to do trips for schools and clubs and general tour trips. The company is now run by two of his sons David and Robert.

David said: "Dad was a hard-working man and he passed on that work ethic to his family.

"But he also loved a pint. There was nothing he enjoyed more than a Banks's Mild at The Sir Robert Peel, at the end of the day."

Mr Adams and his wife Doreen celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in January.

He leaves five sons Andy, Mark, Paul, Robert, and David, two daughters Susan and Karen and 75 grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Another son, Steve, died from a heart attack in 2009.

The funeral will take place next Wednesday (June 11) at Streetly Crematorium at 2.15pm followed by a reception at Bloxwich Memorial Club.

Legend Bully to be a World Cup sports bar star

WOLVES legend Steve Bull will be wearing his World Cup Italia 90 shirt when he is special guest at England's group opener against Italy.

Bully, who featured in the 1990 tournament, will be watch the game at Bar Sport, High Green, when England take on the Italians on June 14 in their first group D match.

He will be joined by fellow Wolves greats Steve Daley and Steve Kindon, who will act as compere. Cost is £35 and includes a four course meal.

On June 19 England take on Uruguay with former Manchester United European Cup winning goalkeeper Alex Stepney as special guest, while on Tuesday, June 24 1966 World Cup winning squad member Norman Hunter will be a special guest.

Bar Sport owner Scott Murray said: "The atmosphere over there will be incredible – a real carnival atmosphere.

"We want to try and recreate a similar atmosphere at Bar Sport.

"We won't just be celebrating the England games though. We will be showcasing all of the World Cup games throughout the tournament."

60 YEAR ANNIVERSARY

As part of our Anniversary Celebrations we are holding Open Days on Monday 9th and Tuesday 10th June, at Philip Howard Opticians. Where you can learn more about our services and the latest amazing smartphone compatible hearing technology. Please feel free to join us between 10am and 4pm for more information.

Perils of not wearing your Hearing Aids

Just a fifth of people with hearing loss wear a Hearing Aid, a study has found. Researchers from Manchester, Southampton and other universities studied the habits of 160,000 people in the UK aged 40 to 69, and found that 10.7% of adults have significant hearing impairment - but only 2.1% used a Hearing Aid. Many people refuse to wear a Hearing Aid because they think they are unsightly and associated with ageing. But studies have shown that untreated hearing problems can lead to poorer quality of life, depression, anxiety and social exclusion, all of which can also impact on your physical health.

Non-Fiction

STAFFORDSHIRE writer Charlotte Higgins gives a fascinating view of Roman Britain and what it means for our sense of Britishness with her engaging account of a trek around the UK in an unreliable camper van.

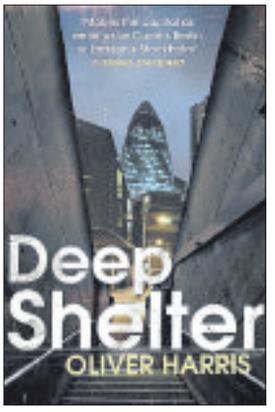
In Under Another Sky: Journeys In Roman Britain (Vintage, £9.99, paperback, ebook) the Oxford classicist doesn't try to describe life in Britain 2,000 years ago, which she sees as an impossible task. Instead she examines the influence of this country's Roman remains on architects and archaeologists, poets and composers. For example, her visit to Wroxeter (Viriconium Cornoviorum) in Shropshire leads to musings over its effect on the young Wilfred Owen and celebrated archaeologist Sir Mortimer Wheeler who helped excavate the site as a student.

By digging deep (pardon the pun) into the Roman era, she reveals how certain myths were encouraged, such as the elevation of the vengeful Boudica to national icon by the Victorians.

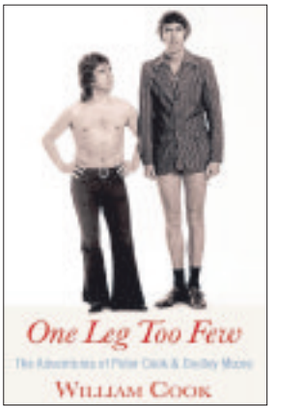
Roman remains in Britain are less impressive than in Mediterranean countries but the Romans have left an enduring legacy that goes far beyond half-buried masonry.

'Alternative comedy' in Britain, which is now the comedy mainstream, did not start with Monty Python, it all began with Pete and Dud.

The ill-matchedpair Peter Cook (tall, public school, posh) and Dudley Moore (short, Grammar school, from Hackney) are effectively described by biographer William Cook (no relation) as the Lennon and McCartney of comedy. Each were highly talented but did their best work together.



A cop faces a race against time under the streets of London



Pete and Dud — the Lennon and McCartney of comedy

His indepth joint biog, One Leg Too Few: The Adventures of Peter Cook and Dudley Moore (Arrow Books, £9.99, paperback, ebook), is essential for anyone who wants to find out more about the comedy partnership that created the satire boom of the 1960s.

Fiction

Cynical CID detective Nick Belsey literally lands himself deep in trouble when his discovery of a stash of booze and drugs in a former nuclear shelter leads to a battle of wits with a kidnapper in Deep Shelter (Jonathan Cape, £12.99, hardback, ebook).

This is the second novel by Oliver Harris featuring the flawed Hampstead policeman first encountered in The Hollow Man. A dalliance with a young woman leads Belsey into a labyrinth under London's streets as he faces a race to save her without implicating himself, thereby encountering powerful shadowy forces. This is a fast-paced thriller and I expect we will see the resourceful corrupt cop on screen soon.

Fears of a killer flu pandemic combine with myths that the Russian Tsar's daughter Anastasia survived her family's murder by the Bolsheviks in Robert Masello's effective page-turner The Romanov Cross (Vintage, £6.99, paperback, ebook). When melting ice uncovers bodies on an island off Alaska, there are fears the corpses could harbour the deadly Spanish Flu. The site also has links to the Russian Revolution and the notorious Rasputin. If you like Dan Brown type thrillers, this is an easy exciting beach read. LB

Helpers plea as charity shop to open

VOLUNTEERS are being sought at a new charity shop set to open in Cannock.

The St Giles Hospice store will open in Walsall Road on July 3 and will specialise in high-quality second-hand furniture and other household items.

Lynwen Truesdale, head of retail for St Giles Hospice, said: "Volunteering can be extremely rewarding so we're asking people to pledge their time to help out at our new Cannock store.

"We have various shift patterns available over seven days."

She added: "Our network of charity shops across the region plays a significant role in helping us to raise the millions of pounds we need every year to provide our specialist caring services and we rely on our volunteers to help keep our shops going."

Volunteers' duties will include sorting incoming stock, pricing and displaying items, assisting customers and working on the till.

Experience

Full training and support will be given to every volunteer so no previous retail experience is necessary.

St Giles Hospice is based in Whittington near Lichfield and provides care to people suffering with cancer and other serious illnesses.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer should call 01543 481042.

Injured pair still critical after crash

THREE people were hurt, two critically, following a traffic collision in Cannock.

The accident happened at the Lodge Lane/Walsall Road junction at around 12.15am on Thursday, May 29. It involved a white Citroen Berlingo panel van, heading towards Churchbridge and a silver Vauxhall Corsa club travelling in the direction of Laney Green.

Both drivers were taken to University Hospital of North Staffordshire. The 22-year-old male van driver sustained minor injuries and was later released. The 27-year-old female Corsa driver sustained multiple injuries and is still in a critical condition.

The 20-year-old male Corsa passenger was treated for abdominal, chest and pelvic injuries and was taken to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Birmingham, where he remains critical.

Anyone with information is asked to contact police on 101, quoting reference 8 of May 29.

Happy Days are here again as the Fonz bursts into song

Kloot singer in solo gig at Robin

ONE of Guy Garvey of Elbow's favourite singer/songwriters, Mancunian John Bramwell, from Mercury Music Prize nominated trio I Am Kloot, is in concert at Bilston's Robin 2 venue on Wednesday, June 11.

With a knack for eloquent melancholy, Bramwell has fronted I Am Kloot since 1999 and the group has released six studio albums, three of them produced by Garvey. Bramwell has a new live solo album, Live At The Trades, out.

I Am Kloot also wrote music for BBC TV drama From There To Here.

Bramwell's seated show starts at 8.30pm and tickets cost £15 in advance (£16 door). Call 01902 401211.

Solihull is to go psychedelic

THE festival season is under way with new event the Lunar Festival taking place on the rural fringe of Birmingham this weekend.

The line up shows a tendency towards psychedelic and folk music with headliners including British Sea Power tomorrow night, 1960s Sunshine Superman Donovan on Saturday and Texan collective The Polyphonic Spree on Sunday. Acts also include Tim Burgess of The Charlatans, Temples and Scott Matthews from Wolverhampton. It's at the Umberslade Estate at Tanworth in Arden, near Solihull. See lunarfestival.co.uk.

Paolo's Scottish passion

Paolo Nutini, Wolverhampton Civic Hall

SCOTTISH singer-songwriter Paolo Nutini has made the transition from scruffy teenaged charmer to a soul singer. Hunched over his microphone, eyes half-closed, his sandpaper and velvet vocal oozed passion as fans soaked up songs from a three album career that began with These Streets in 2006.

The five year gap between Sunny Side Up and his latest, Caustic Love, did plenty to whet the appetite as the 27-year-old performed for a full house on Friday. The soul numbers really impressed, including Better Man, Diana and, dedicated to his mother, Looking For Something. The set closed with the fervent Iron Sky then Nutini returned for a mash up of Jenny Don't Be Hasty with New Shoes, ending aptly with Last Request. LB

Soulful singing from Paolo Nutini seen in concert at Wolverhampton Civic Hall

IT'S a big week for musicals coming up with a new show based on a much-loved TV series from the 1970s and a Rodgers and Hammerstein classic.

Sugababe Heide Range, Emmerdale's Ben Freeman and Eurovision winner Cheryl Baker will be joining forces for Happy Days: A New Musical, bringing the King of Cool Arthur 'The Fonz' Fonzarelli to the stage at Wolverhampton's Grand Theatre from Monday to Saturday.

West End leading man Freeman will be putting on the leather jacket and stepping into Henry Winkler's biker boots as Fonzie, Bucks Fizz singer Miss Baker will be Mrs Cunningham and Miss Range the glamorous Pinky Tuscadero in musical set in rock 'n' roll era America.

The rest of the Cunningham clan and other favourite characters from the series, including Ralph, Potsie and Chachi, feature in a story about them trying to save their beloved diner Arnold's from demolition.

The show has been written by creator of the original TV show Garry Marshall, who has also become a top movie director with such hits as Pretty Woman, Beaches and The Princess Diaries 1 and 2. The original music is from Paul Williams, the creator of Bugsy Malone and songwriter of some of The Carpenters' biggest hits. Original Fonze, Henry Winkler, is a creative consultantto ensure it gets the Fonzie thumbs up.

The stars of Happy Days

The second city's own Birmingham Musical Theatre Company head for Bali Hai when they stage South Pacific at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre from Tuesday to Saturday. The show featuring such songs as There Is Nothing Like A Dame, Happy Talk and Some Enchanted Evening has Abigail Wells as Nellie Forbush.

Stage is set for poweful dramas

SHAKESPEARE theatre group Propeller perform A Midsummer Night's Dream today and on Saturday evening at Birmingham's New Alexandra Theatre. Then A Comedy of Errors tomorrow night and at Saturday matinee.

Birmingham Rep hosts a play about domestic violence, Stay, at sold-out venue The Door on Monday. Pests by Vivienne Franzmann, about drug-addict sisters, is staged at The Door from Wednesday to Saturday.

Tangible Things, a new play by Matt Beames, shows a modern man in rebellion against the electronic age at Wolverhampton University's Arena Theatre tomorrow and Saturday evening.

Soul Legend with a date at the NIA

SOUL singer John Legend has announced a Birmingham concert as part of his UK tour this autumn.

The Grammy award winner has topped the charts in his native US and scored a top ten hit in the UK with the single All Of Me with his fourth album, Love In The Future, selling over half a million units in the UK.

He will be at Birmingham NIA on Sunday, October 12, where tickets range in price from £37.10, £42.70 & £56.70.

Tickets available at www.theticketfactory.com or 0844 338 8000.

Britain's Got Talent: Live Final
(ITV, 7pm)
After weeks of tough auditions and five fiercely competitive semi-finals, the national talent search comes to a close as the remaining contestants perform one last time. The hopefuls all have one simple aim – to win a coveted slot at this year's Royal Variety Performance and get their hands on the £250,000 cash prize. All they have to do is impress the voting public, as the opinions of judges Simon Cowell, David Walliams, Amanda Holden and Alesha Dixon count for nothing - who wins is entirely down to the viewers at home. Plus, Little Mix perform their new single Salute with a special routine by Diversity, and there's also music by another big-name act. Presented by Ant and Dec. Last in the series.

Dermot O'Leary

Soccer Aid 2014 (ITV, 6pm)

Dermot O'Leary presents the pre-match build-up and the big game in aid of Unicef, which sees footballing heroes team up with celebrities for an England v Rest of the World match live from Old Trafford (Kick-off 8.00pm). Robbie Williams captains the England team, managed by Sam Allardyce and featuring former professionals such as David Seaman, Teddy Sheringham and Jamie Redknapp, plus stars including Jack Whitehall and Olly Murs. Jose Mourinho manages the opposing side, which calls upon the talents of Alessandro Del Piero, Andriy Shevchenko and other pros, lining up with captain Michael Sheen and a squad featuring Gordon Ramsay and James McAvoy. Kirsty Gallacher is pitchside with the players.

6.20 Live Formula 1: Canadian Grand Prix. Coverage of the seventh round of the season, staged at the Circuit Gilles Villeneuve in Montreal (Start-time 7.00pm). Michael Schumacher has won this race on seven occasions, with Lewis Hamilton the most successful of the current drivers, and the Mercedes man will be heavily fancied to win here for the fourth time and continue his title charge. Presented by Suzi Perry, with commentary by Ben Edwards and David Coulthard.

9.00 Quirke. As his family life unravels, and grief and drink begin to take their toll, the pathologist is more than receptive to a request from his daughter Phoebe, who asks for his help in the search for her missing friend April, who hasn't been seen in more than a week. He begins to fear she has come to harm when he discovers blood in her flat, but when he tells her well-connected family, the Latimers, their response is not what he was expecting and they close ranks. Quirke pursues his enquiries and finds himself in a world where race and class are the determining factors. Last in the series.

Can they also be coaxed into splashing out on a tantric figure and a rare Russian nude painting? Meeting each potential buyer in a separate room, the sellers must judge when to part with their valuable items and when to reject an offer. Presented by Anita Rani.

8.00 Born in the Wild. New series. Veterinary surgeon Mark Evans and comparative anatomist Joy Reidenberg explore the world of animal reproduction, looking at how different species find and attract a mate, give birth and raise their young in hostile habitats. In South Africa, Mark investigates how male elephants find females in vast home ranges, while in the Okavango Delta in Botswana, Joy sets up night-vision cameras for a rare look at the birth of a calf. The programme also reveals why these animals have the longest pregnancy of any mammal and how quickly a newborn takes its first steps.

MONDAY
Mystery Woman: Vision of a Murder, Channel 5, 3.15pm
Bookshop owner Samantha Kinsey turns detective once more when she visits a health spa on business. One of the staff, a supposed psychic, has a vision of a woman's murder and leads Samantha to a body in the woodlands, which seems to confirm her premonition – but also puts her in the frame for the crime. Whodunit, directed by and starring Kellie Martin. (2005)

TUESDAY
First Blood, ITV, 10.35pm
Vietnam veteran John Rambo is wrongfully arrested in a backwoods town and tested to the limits of his endurance by a brutal deputy. Rambo escapes from his cell and heads out to the woods, and with the forces of the law in hot pursuit he finally has the chance to fight them on his own terms. Action thriller, starring Sylvester Stallone, Brian Dennehy and Richard Crenna. (1982)

WEDNESDAY
Jane Doe: Vanishing Act, Channel 5, 3.15pm
The former government agent is called back into service to investigate how a computer specialist working for a government contractor managed to disappear from a plane in mid-flight, taking communication satellite software and vital defence secrets with him. Mystery, starring Lea Thompson and William R Moses. (2005)

First Blood, Tuesday, ITV, 10.35pm

THURSDAY
McBride: Requiem, Channel 5, 3.20pm
The crusading lawyer gets involved in the case of a murdered violin prodigy. The dead musician's father is convinced her fiance was responsible, but McBride comes to his defence, and discovers the victim had a number of rivals who had the motive to kill her. Mystery, starring John Larroquette and Matt Lutz. (2006)

FRIDAY
Mystery Woman: Snapshot, Channel 5, 3.15pm
Sleuthing bookshop-owner Samantha Kinsey investigates the suspicious death of a friend. The victim had earlier complained that her greedy relatives were trying to cut her out of her brother's will and the family business, and Samantha's inquiries unearth family secrets dating back to the Second World War. Mystery, starring Kellie Martin and Clarence Williams III. (2005)

Twelve Monkeys, BBC2, 11.05pm
A time traveller from 2035 journeys back to the 1990s to discover the cause of a deadly disease that ravaged the world, only to be thrown into an asylum. But the longer he spends in the past, the more he comes to question whether he really is from the future or simply delusional. Terry Gilliam's sci-fi thriller, with Bruce Willis. (1995)

Pick of the Week

Robbie hopes to fine tune his team for victory

Everyone's gone football crazy, they're football mad – and if you've managed to escape the sport so far, brace yourself, because you're going to run into it very soon indeed.

That's because for the next month or so, both the BBC and ITV will be broadcasting the World Cup from Brazil, the sport's biggest and most prestigious competition.

And although British hopes rest on an unfancied England side, you can bet your bottom dollar that the nation will still be gripped to the screen, whether Roy Hodgson's men escape the group of death and make it to the knockout stages or not.

Perhaps the men in white will do better in this competition, which has been taking place every two years since 2006.

It's the brainchild of Unicef ambassador Robbie Williams, and while he might not be everybody's favourite performer, you've got to admit that this is a cracking idea, one which has raised lots of money for the charity while entertaining millions across the globe.

The idea is simple: an all-star England team made up of 12 celebrities and six legendary ex-professionals (one of which must be a goalkeeper) take on a Rest of the World XI.

Both teams are coached by well-known managers, with West Ham United boss Sam Allardyce taking charge of England this time, and Chelsea's Jose Mourinho leading the Rest of the World.

"Thanks to UNICEF for asking me to manage the Rest of the World at Soccer Aid on Sunday June 8 at Old Trafford," said Mourinho when his participation was announced.

"I'm looking forward to beating Robbie Williams' and Big Sam's England team and raising money for UNICEF."

England are leading in the head-to-head so far, having been beaten just once, in 2010, on penalties.

That match raised almost £3million, while last year's raised a record £4.9million – which is pretty good going in austerity Britain. But can the figure be beaten this time around? The fact that the UK Government will be matching the donations made by the public should certainly help.

We'll have to wait and see…

Now 40, Robbie has hung up his boots and is acting as assistant manager this time around.

"Soccer Aid returns for the fifth time in June and I admit there are scores to settle," says the Robster.

"Leading the England team, I will be making sure we defend that trophy against Rest of the World. There's never been a better time for us to show our support for UNICEF."

The great joy in watching the match, which takes place at Old Trafford, is seeing unlikely team-mates together on the pitch. Where else would Stephen Moyer, John Bishop, Mark Owen and Dominic Cooper rub shoulders with Des Walker, Matt Le Tissier and Teddy Sheringham? And that's just England! The Rest of the World features an amazing line-up, including Michael Sheen, James McAvoy, Gordon Ramsay, Jeremy Renner, Alessandro Del Piero, Edgar Davids, Jaap Stam and Andriy Shevchenko.

This year's pro-celebrity football match, Soccer Aid 2014, Sunday, ITV, 6pm

MONDAY
Gail & Me: 40 Years on Coronation Street
ITV, 8pm
Has anyone in Coronation Street ever been as unlucky as Gail Potter-Tilsley-Platt-Hillman-McIntyre? She's been married five times (twice to Brian Tilsley) and widowed three times – only Martin Platt made it out alive. But she hasn't always been the downtrodden, long-suffering character we've come to know and exasperatedly shout advice at. As this documentary points out, Helen Worth was originally recruited back in 1974 to bring a little glamour and youthful energy to the cobbles. And if life on the Street has ground Gail down in the interim, that's hardly surprising, as we look back on some of her most dramatic storylines, including discovering her 13-year-old daughter was pregnant, and marrying the man she would later dub 'Norman Bates with a briefcase', serial killer Richard Hillman.

David Beckham into the Unknown
BBC1, 8.30pm
The trendsetting style icon – and recently retired footballer – embarks on an Amazon adventure, mainly on motorbike, accompanied by three of his closest friends: photographer and video director Anthony Mandler, biker expert Derek White, and Dave Gardner, his manager and boyhood buddy. Before flying to Manaus, the starting point of the journey through the rainforest, Beckham enjoys a game of beach foot-volleyball with locals from Rio's Vidigal favela, but things look set to hot up when almost 800 miles of boat and bike travel brings them to a remote jungle territory, home of the Yanonami tribe.

TUESDAY
Lineker in Brazil: The Beautiful Game
BBC1, 10.35pm
Gary Lineker presents this documentary examining the fascination with Brazilian football, featuring archive footage, interviews and profiles of some of the country's leading players. The World Cup's leading scorer, Ronaldo, gives an insight into the pleasure and pain of playing for his nation, while there is a look at Pele's role in cementing Brazil and Brazilian football firmly in the hearts and minds of the world. Michael Palin discusses the country's appeal and there are contributions from Rio Ferdinand, John Barnes and Michael Owen, and Brazilian model and TV host Fernanda Lima explores the roots and romance of Brazil and the Beautiful Game.

WEDNESDAY
All Star Mr & Mrs
ITV, 8pm
This time around, the likes of Nigel Havers, Kian Egan, Paul Ince and Johnny Vegas are set to feature with their other halves, but the mouth-watering prospect of seeing them in action will have to wait. Opening the series will be The Hoff himself, actor and all-round media love god David Hasselhoff, who's joined by his partner Hayley Roberts, TV presenter Amanda Lamb and her cameraman husband Sean McGuinness, and singer Brian McFadden and his reality star wife Vogue Williams. Phillip Schofield (isn't it time he took part in the show himself alongside his other half Steph?) poses the questions.

David Beckham into the Unknown, Monday, BBC1, 8.30pm

Football Hooligan & Proud
Channel 5, 9pm
English supporters will be under close scrutiny during the World Cup – here's hoping the guys appearing in this documentary haven't got plane tickets to Brazil. Among them is Lee, a 37-year-old die-hard Rochdale fan who has just started his third soccer ban. "At the age of 13, I started to want to fight. I love fear," he says. Jay supports Bristol City, but because the police have stifled trouble at matches, he's joined Casuals United, a group of fans from clubs across the country who search out trouble at marches and demos. Finally there's Jason Marriner, a mainstay of the Chelsea Headhunters who is serving an eight-year ban from matches and is using his free time to write his second book about football hooliganism.

THURSDAY
FIFA World Cup Live 2014
ITV, 7pm
Brazil v Croatia (Kick-off 9.00pm). The 20th staging of the World Cup gets under way this evening at the Arena de Sao Paulo, where the host nation begin their Group A campaign. This is the second time Brazil has hosted the tournament, with the last occasion in 1950 finishing with them as runners-up to Uruguay, and the feast of global football has remarkably not been held on South American soil since Argentina's controversial home victory of 1978. Brazil are always expected to be involved in the latter stages and have the honour of being the only nation to play in every World Cup finals, but the pressure on the Samba Boys is higher than ever this year, with nothing less than victory being acceptable to their adoring, yet hard-to-please fans. Several Premier League-based players are expected to be involved tonight, with the starting XI for the hosts looking to add their names to an illustrious list of World Cup heroes that includes the likes of Pele, Garrincha, Jairzinho, Zico and Ronaldo. They begin against a Croatian side that needed a play-off against Iceland to qualify after finishing behind Belgium in their group.

FRIDAY
The Bat Man of Mexico: Natural World
BBC2, 9pm
Since he first kept vampire bats in his bathroom as a child, Mexican biologist and ecologist Rodrigo Medellin has dedicated his life to saving all species of the flying mammal. In this film, David Attenborough narrates his quest to save the endangered lesser long-nosed bat, which is crucial to the production of tequila as it pollinates the plants the drink is made from. Medellin tracks the bats' epic migration across Mexico – braving hurricanes, snakes, Mayan tombs and seas of cockroaches.

Mii Mango is big in the style stakes

By Sharon Walters

The order books have opened for Mii by Mango, Seat's most highly specified compact car yet.

Built on the belief that thinking small shouldn't mean sacrificing on style, the special edition's arrival is the result of a collaboration between Seat and influential Spanish fashion company Mango.

Available in both three and five-door bodystyles, priced at £10,995 and £11,345 respectively, this newcomer is a flagship addition to the Barcelona-based brand's successful Mii family.

Sharing the model's already appreciated attributes of quality and impressive packaging, coupled with running costs which are among the lowest in the segment, Mii by Mango builds on this with additional beauty in the detail.

Boasting a lengthy list of additional standard features, over the Sport on which it is based, fashion meets functionality in a car that's all about youthful yet tasteful design.

The first visual cue to this catwalk-inspired edition is the Mii by Mango badging and choice of colour schemes. Uniquely, there's the option of either custom-palette Nude with dark grey alloys or a Deep Black metallic hue and silver wheels. Privacy glass plus contrasting side trim detailing and door mirrors complete the look.

Emphasising its status as a halo model, Mii by Mango also benefits from an interior makeover. The unique leather and perforated Alcantara upholstery add an aura of real luxury with the contrast piping and stitching, as well as branded door sills, floor mats and key fobs, creating a bespoke feel to the cabin environment.

Mii by Mango wants for nothing in the way of equipment either, with remote central locking, electric windows, air conditioning, Isofix anchoring points and a suite of airbags for the safety conscious. The Seat Portable System Live adds to the driving experience, with satellite navigation, Bluetooth hands-free connectivity and audio streaming.

Additionally, a Mii by Mango Style Pack is available as an option. This includes a panoramic glass sunroof and front fog lights for £690.

The Mango edition's launch also coincides with ESC, tyre pressure monitoring and Hill Hold Control becoming standard on all Mii trim levels.

Despite making a fashion statement, Mii by Mango won't disappoint on the move. Powered exclusively by the higher output 75PS version of the VW Group's three-cylinder 1.0-litre engine with five-speed manual gearbox means there's adequate performance matched with impressive eco credentials. The vital statistics are: 0-62mph in 13.2 seconds; 108g/km C02; 60.1mpg combined.

First deliveries are expected in August.

UK market leader Ford records an increase in lead over nearest rival

By Bob Hickman

UK market leader Ford recorded year-over-year increases in its total vehicle sales and share in April, and extended its sales lead over its nearest rival to more than 11,000 units, according to the official sales figures from the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders.

Ford recorded total vehicle sales of 31,055, a 15.5 per cent share, up 0.6 percentage points compared with April 2013.

Ford Fiesta and Focus are the number one and two best-selling cars. Ford Transit and Transit Custom are the commercial vehicle sales leaders.

Growth

Mark Ovenden, Ford of Britain chairman and managing director, said: "UK car sales are demonstrating a sustained, strong level of growth and, in this context, it is gratifying that Ford is maintaining its robust sales momentum through 2014, underlined by increased sales and share and beating overall market growth.

"Ford has its best-ever range of vehicles and it is extending its market footprint through a continued investment in exciting products, such as the Ford Transit, including the Tourneo range, and industry-leading technologies spearheaded by the multi-award-winning EcoBoost engine, which are delivered through the strongest dealer network in the UK."

The official figures released by the SMMT show total car sales in April were up 8.2 per cent to 176,820 units, compared with April 2013. Ford's April car sales of 25,843 were up 16.5 per cent.

For the year to date (end April) total UK car sales were 864,942, up 12.5 per cent compared with 2013, while Ford car sales for this period were 120,719, up 13.3 per cent.

Best

With a total of 10,250 registrations, up 26.8 per cent compared with April 2013, the Ford Fiesta was the UK best seller – 4,948 sales and 2.8 percentage points of market share ahead of its nearest non-Ford rival.

For the year to date, Fiesta sales are up 16.7 per cent at 49,490, compared with the same period in 2013.

Increases in Ford's retail and net fleet car sales for the year to date, compared with 2013, demonstrate the underlying commercial strength of Ford's UK business.

Retail and net fleet sales were up from 51,880 and 28,298 to 56,603 and 34,112, respectively.

UK commercial vehicle (CV) sales for the year to date were 112,841, up 7.2 per cent, compared with the same period in 2013. Total sales of Ford CVs for the year to date were up from 24,659 to 24,989, compared with 2013.

Segments

Ford medium commercial sales, headed by the industry-leading Ford Transit and Ford Transit Custom, were 21,287 for the year to date up from 20,802.

Ford Fiesta Van, Ford Transit Custom and Ford Transit were all leaders in their respective segments in April and for the year to date.

Ford of Europe is responsible for producing, selling and servicing Ford brand vehicles in 50 individual markets and employs approximately 47,000 employees at its wholly-owned facilities and approximately 67,000 people when joint ventures and unconsolidated businesses are included.

In addition to Ford Motor Credit Company, Ford Europe operations include Ford Customer Service Division and 22 manufacturing facilities (13 wholly owned or consolidated joint venture facilities and nine unconsolidated joint venture facilities).

The first Ford cars were shipped to Europe in 1903 – the same year Ford Motor Company was founded. European production started in 1911.

Set to make inroads

Plug-in hybrids are moving the game on in the war against excessive fuel consumption. Mitsubishi's new Outlander hybrid isn't the usual high-price, early adopter-friendly offering, as it boasts a sensible money price tag and real-world versatility

By David Banner

While Mitsubishi's latest Outlander offers a pleasingly revised and refined ownership experience, this model is a little different as it's a plug-in hybrid variant.

Mitsubishi might not have the same track record as the likes of Toyota when it comes to hybrid motoring, but this Outlander hits the ground running with boasts of 100-mile plus fuel economy figures and ultra low CO2 ratings.

Mitsubishi has opted for a petrol-electric set-up, which is claimed to offer high levels of refinement along with the low running costs associated with petrol motoring. The car's 2.0-litre engine partners with two electric motors – one at each end – to drive the Outlander.

All-wheel drive performance is retained despite the absence of a propshaft, while the car can automatically channel power where it's needed, such as a front-wheel drive mode for undemanding urban duties. A press of a button transforms this Outlander into a capable 4x4, proving no less able than its diesel-powered stablemates.

This activity-focused approach continues inside, where there's ample space for five in the practical cabin. The hybrid hardware has resulted in the removal of the regular car's third row of seats, but the upshot is a flat, wide load space.

The Outlander's streamlined exterior is a welcome change to the usual rough and rugged theme demonstrated by many of its rivals. It's not all for looks alone, as this approach makes the Outlander a slippery beast – something that should help with its economy performance.

Famous more for purposeful off-roaders and turbo-nutter rally replicas, Mitsubishi doesn't have much of a track record when it comes to alternatively-fuelled transport. Thankfully the engineers in Japan have caught up quickly with the more switched-on European car makers, and the PHEV is a surprisingly accomplished first attempt.

The car's cabin is spacious and practical; there's ample oddments storage space, head and legroom fore and aft plus that previously mentioned wide, flat load space. The Outlander's durable but classy cabin materials should easily resist the rigours of family life, while the powered tailgate is a nice, practical touch.

In real terms the hybrid Outlander behaves a lot like a regular model, although the quiet running on electric power is something of a giveaway. It's an easy car to drive irrespective of the power source in use, and the beauty of the hybrid is that it takes care of everything irrespective of the road conditions. The regenerative braking can be dialled up so you almost don't need to touch the brake – a useful characteristic for urban driving, although it does take a bit of getting used to.

What's also clever is this Outlander's off-roading skills, as the two electric motors work together to deliver a total-traction experience akin to that of a diesel Outlander but without a bulky propshaft.

Plug-in hybrids aren't known for being cheap, but Mitsubishi has dealt a blow to the opposition by pegging the Outlander's price to that of the comparable diesel-powered model.

More Skodas join scheme

Every model from Skoda's GreenLine fleet of environmentally-advanced cars is now available on the Motability scheme.

Over 20 different variants offer customers high levels of safety, practicality and a generous specification.

New to the Motability scheme, the recently-launched Octavia GreenLine III 1.6 TDI 110 hatch and estate allow motorists to benefit from one of the lowest emissions in the class at 85g/km CO2 (VED Band A), a combined cycle fuel economy to match at 88.3mpg as well as a substantial load capacity of up to 1,740 litres.

There is ample space for the storage of luggage and mobility equipment, whilst Skoda's clever storage solutions further enhance the practicality of the Octavia.

Carrying zero advance payment and zero road tax, the Fabia hatch and estate line-up has also been extended on the programme to include the GreenLine II 1.2 TDI model in both guises.

They join the five-door Rapid Spaceback hatch which brings nearly 1,400 litres of space whilst delivering exceptionally low running costs thanks to emissions of just 99g/km and an impressive fuel consumption of 74.3mpg.

The facelifted Yeti and Yeti Outdoor 1.6 TDI GreenLine II crossover models are ideal for those requiring an elevated driving position and access to more rugged environments.

Furthermore, to help customers choose the right vehicle according to their individual needs, Skoda UK has launched its new-look Motability website – www.skoda.co.uk/motability.

The upgraded portal supplies dedicated offers and product information for each model available on the scheme, in addition to a downloadable Motability price guide.

Andy Thomas, sales operations – rental and motability manager at Skoda UK, said: "The addition of the entire GreenLine model range further reinforces our continued strategy of building brand presence on the scheme."

To qualify, individuals must be in receipt of the Higher Rate Mobility Component of the Disability Living Allowance, the Enhanced Rate of the Mobility Component of the Personal Independence Payment, War Pensioners' Mobility Supplement or Armed Forces Independence Payment, which will be taken in lieu of the four-weekly allowance.

Over the past few years I have been pro-claiming to anyone who would listen, or for that matter anybody who asked, my advice on car ownership, the merits of Skoda.

The marque has been transformed and is now at the top end of affordable vehicles which everyone should consider.

It is my view that with the strange sounding Yeti, Skoda has produced probably its best car to date.

The Yeti is well packaged, brilliantly sized with impressive on and off-road behaviour characteristics,

Skoda has tapped into the marketplace which all manufacturers now have to be involved in. It is a vehicle which, if you feel you need a 4 x 4 but you want to be seen to be a bit green, you should take a look at.

Whilst not wanting to be negative, I think the designers may have attended the old Volvo design school, because the vehicle is rather angular.

The advantage of this is that it places a wheel at each corner, and this translates to excellent off-road ability, in so far as you do not have any annoying overhangs front or rear which could be a problem if you were seriously off-roading.

Add in to the equation the huge windows all round and the high seating position, and it means even rear passengers have excellent visibility – this is another box to be ticked by the Yeti. I like to sit in the back of the vehicle I am testing. I am just over 6ft tall and if I can get comfortable with sufficient head, and importantly, knee room, then most people can.

The Yeti has the advantage of the rear seats being adjustable. The outer two seats can slide backwards, and you can also alter the amount of recline to the backrest, so you can really get quite comfortable.

The boot is not overly generous and it was very awkward to load large items due to the high sill. The vehicle, of course, has the advantage of seats which fold out of the way, so that you can carry bigger loads should you so wish.

The Yeti is available with five engine derivatives, two petrols, a 1.2-litre and a 1.8-litre, producing 105bhp and 160bhp respectively. Then there are two diesel options with power outputs of 110bhp and to 170bhp. A smaller1.2-litre engine is only available in the two-wheel drive version.

The driving dynamics of the Yeti are of a friendly companion which does all you ask from it. It's a sure-footed vehicle on all types of terrain.

In a deluge of recent thunderstorms, I felt secure and cocooned in a degree of safety with the permanent four-wheel drive system fitted. I ventured to a very wet car boot sale and whilst others were sliding around and trying to exit the muddy terrain, the Yeti sat down, got on with the job and got me out of the situation without any undue stress.

The amount of standard equipment is quite impressive, even the entry level has air conditioning with remote central locking and electric front windows,. If alloy wheels have to be part of your package, then you need to look at an S derivative and this also introduces front fog lamps and the rear windows are electrically operated. Dual zone climate control, parking sensors, and a better CD is introduced in the SE, and the top specification, Elegance, has leather upholstery. For me an S level would tick all the boxes, especially if it was the two-litre turbo diesel engine.

My test Yeti Elegance Outdoor 2.0 TDi, 4 x 4, was priced at £24,950. Yeti prices start from £16,405.

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:
1. Try to ensure you visit the puppy whilst it is still with it's Mother.
2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree. Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

HIGHWAYS AGENCY

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 – SECTION 14(1)(A) THE A5 TRUNK ROAD AND THE M6 TOLL MOTORWAY (CHURCHBRIDGE, STAFFORDSHIRE) (TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 2014

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport has made an Order on the A5 Trunk Road and the M6 Toll Motorway, at Churchbridge near Cannock in the County of Staffordshire, to allow work to take place designed to improve traffic flow through the junction.

The effect of the Order will be to close at different times –
a) the circulatory carriageway at the roundabout junction of the A5/A34, A460 and the slip road leading to the eastbound carriageway of the M6 Toll (known as M6 Toll Roundabout);
b) the circulatory carriageway at the roundabout junction of the A460 Lodge Lane, A5, A34 Walsall Road and A460 Eastern Way (known as Lodge Lane Roundabout);
c) the circulatory carriageway at the roundabout junction with the slip road leading from the westbound carriageway of the M6 Toll, A5 and A34 Walsall Road (known as Great Wyrley Roundabout);
d) the eastbound and westbound carriageways of the link road leading from the M6 Toll Roundabout to Lodge Lane Roundabout;
e) the northbound and southbound carriageways of the link road leading from the M6 Toll Roundabout to Great Wyrley Roundabout;
f) the eastbound and westbound carriageways of the A5 from its roundabout junction with the B4154 Lime Lane and B4154 Walsall Road, to its junction with Great Wyrley Roundabout;
g) the northbound and southbound carriageways of the A5 between its junction with Lodge Lane Roundabout and its junction with Delta Way;
h) the slip road leading to the eastbound carriageway of the M6 Toll from the M6 Toll Roundabout; and
i) the slip road leading from the westbound carriageway of the M6 Toll to Great Wyrley Roundabout.

Work will be carried out in phases and overnight as follows: Monday to Thursday 21:30 hours to 05:30 hours; Friday 21:30 hours to 09:30 hours; Saturday 17:30 hours to 09:30 hours; Sunday 17:30 hours to 05:30 hours, and is expected to start on Monday 30 June 2014 and continue for approximately five months. The Order will come into force on Monday 23 June 2014.

Vehicles being used for police, fire brigade, or ambulance purposes and vehicles being used in connection with the works will be exempt from the closures. Diversion routes using the A460, A5, B4154, A5190 Cannock Road, A5190 Lichfield Road, M6 Toll Junction T8, A34, A4124 Bell Lane, B4210, B4210 Broad Lane, A462 Warstone Road, M6 Junction 11, A452 Chester Road North, Delta Way and A4601 Wolverhampton Road as necessary will be signed.

For further information, please contact Jessica Kenny on 0121 678 8010.

Historic club faces fight for survival

Football

OVERGROWN grass, litter strewn across the stands and a leaking roof in the dressing rooms – that is the dire situation facing Pelsall Villa FC as it fights for survival.

Volunteers who have steered the club through the latest era of its 116-year history have spoken of their sadness at its current plight and called on the community to help save it. It is on the brink of closing unless people come forward to help with day-to-day running and costs.

Bosses say a public meeting has been organised for Thursday, June 12 to draw up an action plan. And they have urged anyone who can help to get in touch. Help is needed to sweep the stands and car park, staff the canteen and cut the grass.

The club also need sponsors to cover running costs and repairs.

The stand was recently revamped using grants but the club has fallen into disarray as former players Mark Bentley and Shaun Mason struggle to take on all the roles themselves. There has also been a dispute over use of the dressing rooms, which are leased from Pelsall Cricket Club, but Mr Bentley said they hoped the clubs could work together to find a solution.

Mr Bentley warned some 'tough decisions' would have to be made at the meeting at the Bush Ground in Walsall Road.

"We need to look at whether we can go forward in the current state," he said. "We want as many people as possible to come and get behind us."

Mr Mason and Mr Bentley took on roles of team manager and assistant respectively 14 years ago, before Mr Mason became chairman the following year when Vic Dolphin retired after 27 years. Mr Dolphin, now 91, said it was a 'great shame' that the club was facing closure.

Committee members that led the club during more successful years have gradually retired, leaving a just a handful of volunteers behind.

Mr Bentley's 24-year-old son Andrew, who runs the first team, said: "The club has been around a long time but it has just stood still."

Mr Mason said: "Unless we get more support I can sadly confirm we are in grave danger of folding."

Two-year unbeaten run now at an end

Cannock 2nds 155-6 Hammerwich 2nds 113 – Cannock won by 42 runs

CANNOCK ended Hammerwich's unbeaten run that stretched back to 2012 with a 42-run victory.

Losing the toss and batting, Cannock made steady progress in difficult conditions and reached 155-6 from their 50 overs with John Cooke (54) leading the way.

Hammerwich lost wickets steadily with a final flurry from Alan Lett (31no) coming too late to keep their unbeaten run going.

The Cannock bowlers shared the wickets with Dan Wood (3-31), Nick Bell (2-21), Antony Leech (2-17), Ed Martin (2-32) and Paul Martin (1-8) all getting in on the act.

Cannock 3rds 161 Highcroft & Great Barr 2nds 166-1 – Highcroft won by 9 wickets

Cannock travelled to Highcroft and were asked to bat first on a wet wicket.

Ian Slyms (68) was backed up by Ryan Peach who scored 30. The innings closed on 161.

The story of Highcroft's reply was about the seven dropped catches as they passed their total easily with nine wickets and 14 overs to spare.

Rowe takes the helm at Khalsa

IAN ROWE has been appointed as first team manager of Sporting Khalsa for the forthcoming season.

A statement from chairman Raj Gill said: "We believe that we have the right man in Ian Rowe to bring success to the club.

"He has experience, great management skills with a determination to succeed and a proven track record."

Rowe's management team will consist of Lee Rolfe, Pete Woods, Lee Cooke and Rob Perks.

Rowe said: "I was impressed by the vision of the club and their goals both on and off the pitch. There is an excellent youth structure in place and I believe that by working together we can bring success to this club."

Pubs ready for the World Cup bonanza

IT'S not long now until the whole country unites to share the agony, ecstasy and, historically, disappointment when England play in a major tournament.

And while fans get ready to paint themselves red and white and declare their love for St George and the Three Lions, pubs in the Midlands are hoping the World Cup will provide a much-welcome boost.

Football

They could be seeing even more pour through the doors than would normally be expected after it emerged there won't be any large scale public screening of games in the Black Country, Staffordshire and Birmingham.

That's because councils in the region have snubbed the chance to show England's games in Brazil on big screens in parks and town centres.

Takings

Instead, bars in the Midlands are rubbing their hands as the prospect of bumper takings with the first game against Italy taking place at 11pm on June 14.

None of the four Black Country councils, Wolverhampton, Walsall, Sandwell and Dudley will host outdoor events showing the games.

In addition Cannock, South Staffordshire and Stafford councils won't be providing a site for England fans to enjoy the sun and the football.

And Birmingham City Council has no plans to shows Roy's boys in Brazil.

Wolverhampton City Council spokesman Gurdip Thandi said:"There are currently no plans to arrange for a big screen to be installed at a city venue to televise World Cup games.

"The council endorsed the Government's proposals to relax licensing hours during England matches which will support the city's pubs."

Government ministers gave the go-ahead for local authorities to allow pubs and bars to stay openlonger during the World Cup.

The rulings allowed pubs could to stay open for up to four hours after each England match kicks off, although no alcohol can be served after 1am.

Previously licensed premises had to apply for Temporary Event Notices.

One Black Country sports bar boss says plans for authorities not to stage large gathering for games will be to the benefit of licensees."

South Staffordshire Council said it had no plans but said individual parishes may host their own World Cup events.

Kenny's Sports Bar on North Walls in Stafford will be screening the World Cup on two giant screens and punters can enjoy the game with waitress service.

Saddlers get new kit and Smith has high hopes

WALSALL have unveiled their new kits and sponsorship deal – as boss Dean Smith hailed the club's brand.

The Saddlers have signed an agreement with HomeServe to be front-of-shirt sponsor for the next three years.

The household insurance repairs company – which is based in the town – will also sponsor the club's training kit and academy.

They replace CAT Communications and already sponsor the Main Stand at the Banks's Stadium.

"We're delighted to be entering into this partnership with Walsall FC through the combination of shirt, Main Stand and academy sponsorship," said Martin Bennett, chief executive of HomeServe Membership.

And after the club secured the deal Smith is confident of playing success.

He believes the club's philosophy of playing and doing things the right way has made them an attractive package to players who are not just interested in making money.

Second bid for Maguire rejected

WOLVES have had a second bid rejected by Sheffield United for defender Harry Maguire.

It's understood Wolves have tested the water with a new offer of around £1.2m – rising to £1.5m – for the 21-year-old central defender after having an opening bid of £1m snubbed last week.

The Blades are seeking around £2m for the highly-rated stopper, who has a year to run on his contract and wants to leave Bramall Lane.

United's managing director Mal Brannigan said: "We've had one or two bids that have been rejected so far for Harry. Both bids have come from the same club. He has the chance to play Championship football next season."

Brannigan added: "If you look at the amount of money that could come in for Harry, we could utilise it on the squad, but we'd much prefer him to stay."

The indications are that it could become a drawn-out process for Wolves after this week's free transfer arrival of Peterborough captain Tommy Rowe.

Brannigan is seeking to prove he's as tough a negotiator as Wolves chief executive Jez Moxey and the Blades are anxious to avoid a repeat of the bargain sale of Kevin McDonald.

Washout for speedway

WOLVERHAMPTON'S eagerly awaited home clash with Leicester was washed out.

It was the first time the sides had met at Monmore in 34 years after the Lions were promoted in the winter – but the rivals managed just one heat last night but it was a good one.

Swedish starlet Jacob Thorssell dived underneath Lions number one Jason Doyle on the opening lap to secure the lead. Skipper Tai Woffinden attempted to follow suit but former Poole man Doyle resisted the World Champion's attacks and Wolves had to be content with a 4-2.

The second heat saw Joe Jacobs and Ashley Morris set for a 5-1 for the hosts only for Leicester's Max Clegg to come to grief, leading to a stoppage. He picked himself up unhurt as the heavens opened .

Ladies are crowned division champions

FC Reedswood Ladies are West Midlands Regional Premier Division Champions 2013/14

FC Reedswood Ladies ended an excellent season with a comfortable 11-1 win over Wednesfield Town ladies and were crowned West Midlands Regional Premier Division Champions 2013/14.

With that the ladies have gained promotion to the Midland Women's Combination League.

The side were also Staffordshire County Cup finalists and reached the third round of the Women's FA Cup, knocking out two clubs in the league above along the way.

After being a lone team for just over 10 years the club is looking to expand and will be holding an open session on Sunday June 8 for girls 16+. If you would be interested in being part of the club send an enquiry by email to info@fcreedswood.co.uk or call Kelly Williams on 07456 763236.

KEEPING UP HEAT ON THE LEADERS

CANNOCK skipper Will Fleet is eyeing showdowns with Pelsall after they kept the heat on the Staffs Clubs leaders.

A six-wicket win over Hammerwich on Saturday left them second, four points behind leaders Pelsall after seven games.

"They are four points ahead now but hopefully we can keep going and have a couple of crunch matches against them," said Fleet.

An unbeaten 75 from Anthony Sams helped Cannock recover from losing Fleet early to reach 144-4 in reply to Hammerwich's 141-9, despite Joe Samuel's 50 as Alex Beaman took 4-33 for Cannock.

And Fleet wants Sams to continue his good form.

"He's in very good form. If that carries on it allows, with someone scoring at a good rate, the young lads to go in and bat without pressure," he said.

Scoring

"He is scoring at the other end constantly but in other years we might have had slower scorers which would put pressure on them."

Overseas star Ovais Yousuf hit an unbeaten 100 as Aldridge claimed a nine-wicket win against Whittington.

Opener Chris de Wit was 79 not out as Aldridge raced to 190-1 after Imran Jamshed had claimed 6-47 in Whittington's 186 all out. Greg Hunt top-scored for Whittington with 54 while Dan Bailey made 38.

Aussie all-rounder Dan Upward weighed in with bat and ball as Lichfield claimed fourth place with a tense 14-run win against Swindon. Upward's 51 was the mainstay of his side's 174 after captain Adam Braddock lost the toss and his side were asked to bat first. Tim Filer made 28 while Dan Wale (4-58), Abid Khan (3-28) and David Silcox (3-44) claimed the wickets for Swindon.

Upward (2-23) removed two of Swindon's top three early and James Wilkinson (4-54) chipped in to put his side in command. But Wale (49) and the last-wicket pair of Tom Beech (12) and Roy Davies (12 not out) gave Lichfield a scare before Swindon fell just short.

South African Jacabus Vorster Maritz hit a century to fire Wednesbury into third in the Premier Division. Vorster's 62-ball 103 helped his side to 179-5 in 28 overs and a five-wicket victory against Rugeley.

His knock, including seven sixes, enabled Wednesbury to recover from 5-2 after Waqas Ahmed's 4-41 helped dismiss Rugeley for 178. Kieran Smith hit 50 and claimed two wickets for Rugeley but Vorster's fireworks guided his side to victory.

Hat-trick of trophies has Victoria amused

Division 2 Champions - Victoria FC of Norton Canes showing off the Lichfield Charity Cup and the Cannock Charity Cup

AT the recent Cannock Chase League Presentation night awards were given to the worthy winners.

Simon Traat and Neil Mabbeley of Hen House were awarded the Division 4 Manager of the Year ; Division 3 Manager of the Year was Paul Clayton and Alan Dean of Crystal Fountain; Division 2's Manager of the Year was Mark Scragg of Talbot FC; The Division 1 award went to Steve Wassall of Poets Corner FC, while Premier League award for Manager of the Year was handed to Richard Knight of Ridware Oak FC

The Assistant Referee Award went to Chloe Matthews. The Referee of the Year Award was won by Nigel Kerr while Mark Rogers of Ridware Oak picked up the award for Secretary of the Year.

Jim Houston was presented with The Sportsman Award, Dynamo Lamb and Wyrley Juniors were the Fair Play Award winners. The Division 2 Champions were Victoria FC of Norton Canes.

Young talents sign up

WALSALL have agreed new deals with emerging stars Kieron Morris and Jake Heath.

The duo, who were out of contract at the end of the season, have both signed up for another season at the Banks's and the news comes as a boost to manager Dean Smith as he continues to rebuild the Saddlers squad.

Winger Morris, 20, made his first-team breakthrough towards the end of last season, with three appearances, and made his first start in the final game against Colchester. Heath, 19, is a central midfielder who had loan spells at non-league outfits Worcester and Leamington.

Both are products of the club's academy and while their signings is no great surprise, it is positive news for Smith in a summer which has been largely characterised by high-profile departures.

With Ashley Hemmings and Febian Brandy having left, Morris has the chance to stake a claim for a starting place during pre-season.

Heath will have to get past Sam Mantom and Adam Chambers and faces competition from young star, Reece Flanagan.

Club revival is just the ticket

WOLVES say 12,500 season tickets have already been sold as fans rally to the Kenny Jackett revival.

The club is confident it will hit its target of 14,500 after promotion to the Championship. The thumbs-up from the box office is another reminder of the repair job head coach Jackett has undertaken.
